Professor Dies From Injuries; Inquest Is Ordered By Coroner

Probe is Launched By Lewis

A. E. Berggren Dies After Collision With Frank Hoover Car

Dist. Atty. T. G. Lewis and Coroner W. E. Campbell today ordered an inquest into the death of Prof. A. E. Berggren who died last night of injuries received in an automobile collision. The coroner's jury will be sworn in today and the hearing set for early next week.

The jury, Dist. Atty. Lewis and Coroner Campbell viewed the scene of the accident this afternoon, after which the jurors will be sworn in at Frautschi's undertaking parlors. Members of the jury are H. H. Morgan, S. W. Humiston, O'Malley, A. G. Michelson, [illegible] Dorring, W. H. Dunn.

Prof. Berggren died early last night of injuries received when his automobile collided with that of Frank Hoover, Middleton restaurateur, on the Middleton road, at the entrance to the Blackhawk country club. Prof. G. L. Larson escaped with bruises while Hoover was uninjured.

The injured professor lived only a few hours after the accident. He succumbed at 6:30 p. m. at General hospital, where he was rushed in a passing automobile and where Dr. Arthur Sullivan performed an operation in an effort to save his life.

Prof. Berggren was 40 years old. Born in Marshalltown, Ia., on Oct. 6, 1882, he graduated from the Iowa State College in 1905. He was a member of Pi Tau Sigma and Tau Gamma Delta. Surviving him are his widow and two children. He lived at 2227 Rowley ave.

Dist. Atty. T. G. Lewis, Coroner W. E. Campbell and Sheriff W. H. McCormick have begun an investigation.

Hoover told officials after the accident that he swerved into the automobile of Prof. Berggren as it turned into the Blackhawk entrance. Both cars were driving toward Madison at a moderate rate of speed, he said, when that of Prof. Berggren turned sharply into the entrance. He turned suddenly to avoid the collision, but was unable to escape it. As Prof. Berggren's car was hit by that of Hoover, it plunged into the ditch and turned turtle.

Prof. Berggren became instructor at the University of Wisconsin in 1910. With the exception of one year in the University of Colorado, Boulder, he has been teaching there continuously since. He was assistant professor of steam and engineering at the time of his death.

On Sept. 8, 1921, he was married to the widow of his best friend and fellow engineer, William Black, Mrs. [illegible] Black, who survives him, together with a sister and brother of Marshalltown, Ia.

Mr. Berggren was a member of the Congregational church and an active Sunday school teacher of [illegible] mother at every opportunity and a friend today. Governors of Five States Ask U. S. Rail and Mine Operation

Blaine And Four Others Unite In Appeal To Harding

Immediate shipment of 50,000 tons of coal to West Lake Michigan docks, in addition to the coal already moving to that destination was directed by Federal Fuel Administrator Henry B. Spencer, the Fuel committee was advised today in a telegram.

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Governors of five northwestern states in conference here yesterday urged on President Harding government operation of coal mines and railroads if such a step becomes necessary in the present industrial crisis.

Declaring the scarcity of coal, due to labor disputes, "threatens the health and happiness of our people and imperils the prosperity of our business," the governors informed the chief executive to take over the mines and railroads such action would have their approval.

The resolution was signed by Governors Preus, Minnesota; Blaine, Wisconsin; Nestos, North Dakota; Kendall, Iowa; and McMaster, South Dakota.

Governors Groesbeck, Michigan, and Wixon, Montana, unable to be here, are known to be in sympathy with the action.

The governors agreed to appoint a representative from each state to a joint committee which will be maintained in Washington. The committee will watch developments in the coal and rail strikes and will make efforts to secure an adequate supply of coal for Minnesota, the Dakotas, Iowa and Wisconsin.

The conference adjourned late Thursday night, and the governors were entertained at dinner by Governor Preus at the University club.

Drop Charges

Six Game Violators Are Dismissed; C. White Paroled

Charges of violation of the fish and game laws against six Madison men were dismissed in Superior court today after Judge O. A. Stolen ruled that there was not sufficient evidence to hold them for trial. The men are: Walter Schumbusch, Russell Wiess, Eugene Quinlan, Arthur Hegge, George Steinle and David Linstrom.

After pleading guilty to the same charge, Charles White, was placed on probation for six months. White is alleged to have speared pickerel this spring before the opening of the season.

Two Big Social Forces Can Work Hand In Hand

"Newspapers, magazines and library books are the three great purveyors of the food of opinion for millions of American citizens. Without them there can be no sound public opinion in this country, and without sound public opinion our democracy cannot long survive." So said Prof. Willard G. Bleyer, director of the Course in Journalism at the University of Wisconsin, in speaking recently at the annual convention of the American Library association held at Detroit, as reported in a Detroit newspaper. "Day by day newspapers present and interpret current events and issues; week by week and month by month magazines survey in perspective these events and issues; year by year books record in permanent form current thought and feeling. In these days of widely read newspapers and magazines and of free public libraries, it is the printed rather than the spoken work that is shaping the ideas and the ideals of these United States.

Panels For Schoolrooms Painted By Students

A series of decorative panels for the walls of the ninth grade room of the Emerson public school, have recently been completed by several students in a class in are structure in the department of applied arts and industrial education of the University of Wisconsin, under A. McCormick Weds Walska

Madame Walska and Harold F. McCormick.

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS — The marriage of Harold F. McCormick, millionaire Chicagoan and former head of the International Harvester Co., to Damade Ganna Walska in Paris today furnishes a dramatic climax to a series of remarkable episodes.

Madame Walska, Polish opera queen, was the wife of Alexander Smith Cochran, wealthy manufacturer. They were divorced by a French court May 31 last.

Mr. McCormick's first wife was Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, daughter of John D. Rockefeller. She obtained a divorce last December after a married life of 26 years. The decree was obtained on the ground of desertion.

Mr. McCormick sailed for Europe in July, following his recovery in Chicago from an operation. He was accompanied by his daughter, Mathilde, whose romantic attachment to Max Oser, proprietor of a riding academy in Switzerland where Miss McCormick lived during a great part of her girlhood, has rivalled the paternal romance in public attention.

Mr. McCormick has declared he would not interfere in his daughter's affairs and Miss McCormick only, yesterday went with her governess from Paris to a resort near Lucerne, where her fiance also is stopping.

The present is Madame Walska's third marriage. Her first husband was Baron Aracdie D' Eingorn, a Russian army officer, killed early in the war.

2 Killed In Blast Aboard S.S. Adriatic

Explosion In Hold Fatal to Crew Members; Five Are Injured

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Two members of the crew of the steamship Adriatic were killed, five more seriously injured, and one is missing as the result of an explosion of undetermined origin in her No. 3 hold, according to a wireless received today at the White Star line. The explosion occurred about 300 miles off the coast of Maine, while inward bound from England.

The message reported that the Adriatic was proceeding to New York at half speed. Coal was stored in the hold and officials thought spontaneous combustion may have caused the explosion.

The men killed, were a fireman and a trimmer. Those injured included an electrician and other employes of the engine room.

The Adriatic is carrying 300 first class passengers, 150 second and 200 third. She left Liverpool for New York on Aug. 5.

Rail Strike Affecting City Work, Is Report

The railroad strike is effecting city work, according to E. E. Parker, city engineer. Difficulty is being experienced in procuring materials for construction work. Some cement was on hand in warehouse but large inroads have been made on this since the 50 per cent embargo has been enforced. If the strike continues all city work will be effected.

10,000 Vets To Parade at 32nd Reunion

Maj. Gen. Haan Will Lead Red Arrow Heroes

The greatest military affair ever staged in Madison will mark the Thirty-second division reunion Aug. 26-29.

On Tuesday morning 10,000 "Red Arrow" men will march to the music of the bands of the Wisconsin National Guard units, which will be detailed in Madison for the reunion, and bands from larger American Legion posts of the state. The procession will be led by Maj. Gen. William G. Haan, who commended the division in France.

The parade will be reviewed by Governors Grossbeck of Michigan and Blaine of Wisconsin, Senator Burton of Michigan, Senators La Follette and Lenroot of Wisconsin, attaches from the English and French embassies in Washington, and men prominent in national and state affairs.

Every man in the parade, from general to private, will march on foot, the only mounted men to be the marshal and his aides. Major William Smith of the 128th infantry will be in charge of the parade.

The men will march in the units of which they were members in France. Boy Scouts will march before each unit carrying a standard bearing the name of the regiment or company.

Twenty-five thousand people from Wisconsin and Michigan, together with the citizens of Madison, will stand at attention as the veterans march.

Senator In Addresson Newberry

La Follette Says Greatest Danger To America Is Corruption From Within

RACINE, Wis. — "The gravest danger menacing the life of American democracy is corruption from within."

Senator La Follette took up the Newberry case in his speech at Racine Thursday night.

Sixteen hundred people packed the Orpheum theatre to overflowing last night. The standing room sign was hung out at 7:30 and hundreds of people were turned away. No overflow meeting was possible because of traffic conditions. Fred R. Zimmerman, progressive candidate for secretary of state, spoke first. He was followed by Herman L. Ekern, progressive candidate for attorney general. Senator La Follette entered the theatre at 9:00 P. M. He was given a tremendous ovation. The entire audience rose to its feet and cheered for several minutes. C. C. Gittings presided.

The Senator endorsed Grant Nelson, Jacob Stoffer, Sr., and John H. Kemper, the three progressive candidates for the assembly from Racine county. He also urged all progressives to vote for Max Heck, progressive candidate for the senate from the Racine district.

The Senator denounced the seating of Newberry and referred to the fact that for three years Newberry had voted in the United States Senate while under charges of corruption and that during all that time he never had the courage to make a defense on the floor of the senate. The Senator said in part:

"For 70 years after the establishment of this Government there had never been a charge presented raising the issue of corruption against a member of the Senate. For 70 years no man's title to a seat in the Senate had been questioned on the charge of bribery free from certain any form.

"Throughout this long period our national life was free ffrom corrupting influences.

"Business did not attempt to control Government and Government did not find it necessary to defeat itself against business.

"Since that time the right of 13 United States Senators has been challenged on the ground that they were guilty of bribery and corruption. During my relatively short service three of these 13 cases have been brought to trial at the bar in the Senate. The first was the Lorimer case in 1910 and 1911; the second was the Stephenson case; and the third is the Newberry case now before the Senat..

"No danger menaces us from without, nor ever will so long as we pursue a just and righteous policy in all our dealings with the other nations of the world.

"The gravest danger before the American people today is the control of their own Government.

"That issue is presented in the case of Truman H. Newberry.

"The only plea on which Senators can defend a vote to seat Mr. Newberry is that he did not know of the enormous funds expended in

Free Cinema Shows Are Popular Feature

"Over the Hill," a first-run feature film starring Mary Carr, famous "movie mother," was shown last week at the University of Wisconsin free of charge to the summer session students who thronged Music hall to see the closing film program arranged by William H. Dudley, chief of the bureau of visual instruction of the University Extension division. During the summer session, weekly programs have been given by Mr. Dudley, to inform teachers, school superintendents, and others attending the summer session, how model community film programs can be arranged with the assistance of the bureau.

New Swimming Pool Is Now Being Built

A new swimming tank, to replace the old pool in the men's gymnasium of the University of Wisconsin, is now being built and will be ready for use by Sept. 15. The New tank will be of regulation size, 60 feet long, instead of 75 as at present. The present tank, because of its non-regulation size, is a disadvantage to championshiu swimmers. As the present gymnasium was built 25 years ago and is cramped for locker space, the 15 feet gained will be filled with new lockers.

Professor Goes Abroad For History Research

Prof. Paul Knapland, of the department of history of the University of Wisconsin will take a year's leave of absence in order to do historical research work in the archives of the public record office in London. He sailed on Aug. 9 after teaching courses in history in the summer session.

Hold Two After Middleton Crash

Charged with driving while intoxicated, Jess Hudson, Spring Green, was arraigned in Junior Superior court today as a result of a collision last night with another automobile. He pleaded not guilty. Two men riding with him in the car pleaded guilty to being drunk and were fined $5.

Hudson was arrested by Sheriff W. H. McCormick on complaint of Homer O. McCabe, driving the automobile struck by Hudson's car, and George Flynn, secretary of the Crescent Clothing Co. With Mr. McCabe and Mr. Flynn in the automobile were Mrs. Flynn and Roy Homewood.

Occupants of both automobiles escaped with a shaking up.

After a preliminary examination Judge O. A. Stolen ordered Hudson bound over for trial. Bail was set at $500. Mr. Flynn testified that Hudson showed indications of being drunk, while James Payton, whose car was passed by that of Hudson a moment before the crash declared that it was going at "terrific speed."

The men were Dan Herring and Charles Olson, of Iowa county and La Crosse, respectively.

Arrest Strikers

Six Shopmen Held For Trial Here; Broke Restraining Order, Claim

Six striking shopmen of the Omaha road at Altoona, Wis., were arrested today and taken to Madison by U. S. Marshal W. R. Chellis and Deputy William Touton to face charges of violating the injunction recently issued by Federal Judge Luse.

They will be brought here and taken before Judge Luse in the U. S. district court Saturday when hearing on the restraining orders issued recently will also be held.

Hearing on the restraining orders issued against individuals and unions of the local railway strikers will also be heard before Judge Luse.

Columbia Farmers Visit County Farm

The eleventh annual demonstration and picnic will be held at the Columbia county asylum farm on Thursday, Aug. 17. This is the announcement of George M. Briggs of the Badger college of agriculture, who is co-operating with the superintendent in arranging the program for the day. In the morning a trip will be made to the fields to see the alfalfa and soy bean crops. A "barn yard golf" contest will follow and prizes will be awarded to the winning pitchers. In the afternoon a program of talks and demonstrations has been arranged. On the program are F. I. Doudana and G. J. Townsend of Poynette, who tell of their cow testing experiences; G. M. Briggs, L. F. Graber and A. O. Collentine of the agricultural college.

Will Protest Transfer Of Pupils At School

A committee was appointed at a meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association at the Lapham school August 10, which will attend the next meeting of the school board to protest sending pupils from Lapham school to Emerson, a distance of one and one half miles for some pupils, without street car service. A resolution will be introduced at the council meeting tonight by Ald. Trachte asking that the barrack now near the high school be moved to the Lapham school grounds for use of the seventh and eighth grades.

WEATHER

The highest temperature during the past 24 hours was 77 degrees at 4 p. m. yesterday and the lowest was 60 degrees at 6 a. m. The sun sets at 7:07 tonight. Thunder showers in an area of low barometer in the west are now crossing the Missouri and Red River valleys preceded by warmer weather and followed by cooler weather.

"I Know Slayers!" is Statement of Balzer; Says Two Men Guilty

Recovers Consciousness And Relates Story Of Murder Of Brother And Sister In Farm Home Near Sauk City

Arrests within several hours in connection with the murder of Julius Balzer, Cassel Prairie farmer, and his aged sister, Mary, early Wednesday morning were in prospect this afternoon as a result ofa statement reported to have been made by William Balzer, only survivor of the tragedy, at the hospital this noon as he again came out of the coma in which he had lain for more than 40 hours.

Balzer is said to have declared that he knew who committed the crime and told Sheriff Nietzel and Dr. A. T. Johnson who he was. Immediately after the alleged statement, the sheriff left hurriedly for an unknown destination.

If the slayers were known to the stricken family, officials have an explanation of the savage crime, it is believed. An attempt was made apparently, to make away with every witness to the deed, acting on the axiom that "dead men tell no tales."

"Two men did it," Balzer stated early today, when he regained consciousness for the first time.

Marks on Balzer's back indicated that not only had his skull been caved in by a blunt instrument, but that he was beaten and kicked. Bruises were found on his arms and legs. Dr. Johnson, in an effort to save the man's life, removed nine pieces of bone from his skull. He is not expected to live more than a few days.

Solution of the double murder mystery was further removed this morning when it was found that a large sum of money was found in the house. The amount is not definitely known, but local opinion is that it runs into the thousands.

The district attorney and sheriff are working on several clues that they have untangled from the mysterious assault. The fact that the robbery took place in a rather isolated spot and that they have no one on whom they can depend for definite information makes their task difficult.

Theories of beautiful young women and accomplices were exploded by Dist. Atty. H. J. Bohn, who claimed they were all imaginative.

"We have no definite information yet," said Mr. Bohn, today.

"We have several leads that we are following but are saying nothing until we get something that we know is true."

Several of the discrepancies in the story of the double crime may be accounted for by the peculiarities of the victims.

That they had a safety deposit box in the Farmer's and Citizens Bank at Sauk City was found to be true this morning when officials of the bank verified the story.

The Balzers were known to be recluses, who kept to themselves and had no intimate friends. That they had a fear of banks and kept their cash at home is plausible and that the safety deposit box was used for other valuables such as jewelry or valuable papers is the opinion of Sauk City people.

Gus Redel, a farmer living near the Balzer farm, told the officials that he had heard screams during the night about 1 a. m. and this information checks with that of Martin Bernhard, which would place the murder about that time on Wednesday morning.

The Balzer home lies just beyond the Luddes millpond and the body of Mary Balzer was found by Henry Meng, who was getting his mail Wednesday evening. The bodies were evidently unnoticed all day Wednesday.

Discovery that the beds in the home had been used led to the theory that the brothers had been lured from the house by a supposed auto accident and clubbed from behind as they stepped into the garage. The screams of her dying brothers evidently aroused the sister who arose and was in turn murdered as sh estumbled through the black fields toward the deserted Spring Green road.

Robbery is still held the motive of the visit. It became known today that the Balzers had recently purchased a $2000 car which had been paid for in cash at delivery at the farm.

An inquest held later on the Balzer farm by a jury composed of neighbors decided on a murder verdict. The jury included William Gasser, Charles Hill, Gustav Redel, William Koerth, Karl von Behren, and George Guhl. Other neighbors, who were questioned, were Fred Mallon, Arwald Buelow, Alfred Broen, John Zins, Jacob Baker, William Pepka, John Neykauk, Martin Bernhard and Oscar Buerki.

Mr. Buerki confirmed the fears that a large sum of money may have been stolen when he stated that the Balzers did very little banking and did not trust the banks.

TrainmenQuit In Protest At Many Points

New Traffic Menace Marks Opening Of Peace Conferences

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO — Serious threats to traffic by refusal of trainmen to move trains at points where troops are on guard; renewed outbreaks of violence resulting in several deaths and the possibility of walkouts by maintenance of way men on various roads marked the progress of the rail strike as railroad heads and union leaders gathered for conferences today to consider separately President Harding's proposal for ending the strike.

Members of the "Big Four" transportation brotherhoods upon whom train movements depend, were authorized by their chiefs to suspend, work if the trainmen consider strike conditions and the presence of soldiers at terminals and junction points "unbearable."

Western divisions of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe were threatened with a tie-up by refusal of engineers firemen, conductors and trainmen to operate trains while troops were stationed along the line where outbreaks occurred earlier in the strike.

At other centers throughout the country similar situations threatened.

Switchmen joined the trainmen in their protests against working under guard and the situation on the Santa Fe at California points was aggravated when the entire yard force at Fresno left its post, the men notifying the company they would refuse to return until armed guards were removed.

Brotherhoods Fail To Act

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON— Heads of seventeen railroad labor organizations including those on strike and the larger operating brotherhoods considered President Harding's latest strike settlement proposal for more than two hours today without reaching any decision as to what response would be made by the men on strike.

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Heads of 148 American roads today appointed a committee to recommend a reply to President Harding's latest proposal for settlement of the nation wide rail strike. It was not indicated by those leaving the conference chamber what would be the nature of the reply.

Ram Half The Flock, Experiments Prove

"A good ram is more than half the flock," according to Frank Kleinheinz of the Wisconsin college of agriculture. They have proved that lambs of superior mutton quality are produced from western range ewes by using good purebred rams. The best rams that can be bought are always the best investments, and a cheap ram always proves to be the most expensive. This has been proved by mating pure bred ewes at the university farm. Increased weight and better quality of lambs has been the result.

LaFollette in Attack On Sen. Newberry

his behalf and was not a participant in his own campaign. This lame excuse will make no appeal to the common sense of the American people. It is contradicted by the admitted facts on the record.

"In the face of the pitiful claim of Newberry and his supporters that 'he did not know,' the following facts stand out boldly on the record uncontroverted and unassailable:

"Newberry himself suggested the organization of the 'business men's committee' which was placed in charge of his campaign. Newberry requested that his business partner, Allen Templeton act as the chairman of that committee and Templeton did so act at Newberry's suggestion.

"Nearly one year before the primary, Newberry sent his confidential agent, Fred Cody, to Washington to ask J. G. Hayden, a newspaper man, to become active manager of his campaign a few months later. Hayden having declined the offer, Newberry held a conference with Paul King at which Newberry definitely engaged King as his active campaign manager. At this conference King informed Newberry that his campaign would cost "at least $50,000."

"The names of Mr. Floyd as secretary and Mr. Blair as treasurer of the campaign committee were sent to Newberry for his approval before either of these two gentlemen began to function as members of his committee.

"Every penny of the $195,000 openly acknowledged to have been spent was contributed by members of Newberry's family and his business partner. Of the total amount John Newberry, brother of Truman, admitted he had contributed $99,000. Fred Smith, confidential agent of the Newberrys, who held the power of attorney for Truman and John Newberry, drew checks for the use of the campaign committee. Smith admitted under oath that when the account of John Newberry ran low he replenished the account by checking from the account of Truman Newberry, but Smith and John Newberry swore that such amounts were later made good by John Newberry.

"In addition to the acknowledgment of an expenditure of $195,000, abundant evidence was produced to show that the total expenditure exceeded a quarter of a million. The State law of Michigan permitted only in expenditure of $8,750 by a candidate for the Senate. While the campaign was in progress it is undisputed that both the lieutenant governor of Michigan and a leading newspaper editor of the State advised Newberry that a "boodle" campaign was being waged in his behalf. Although put on notice that the methods of which he was approving almost daily in his letters to King were notoriously calling for excessive expenditures; the record shows that Newberry continued to encourage his friends in conducting exactly the sort of a expenditures of money and did absolutely nothing to restrain the reckless and corrupting activities of his appointed agents. Such are the established facts disclosed in page after page of the evidence in the Newberry case.

"Lorimer's political aids had not attempted to poison the fountain of democracy at its source by corrupting the people themselves. A few thousand dollars were spent by Lorimer's friends to purchase the votes of half a dozen depraved members of the Illinois Legislature. Lorimer was not an active participant in the methods and practices employed in the canvass; it was shown by circumstantial evidence only that he had knowledge of the acts and approved the plans of his dishonest agents; he never admitted the expenditure of a penny in his behalf, and only a portion of the $100,000 'slush fund" alleged to have been raised was ever shown to have been expended.

"Lorimer was never indicted or tried in the courts of his State. Newberry was indicted and convicted.

Lorimer submitted himself to an examination by the committee appointed by the Senate to investigate his election. Newberry did not do that, and Newberry came before the Senate of the United States, if the public press is to be accepted as any approach to truth, only when certain members on the floor demanded that he appear to say something in his own defense, else they would not vote for him.

"Lorimer took the floor in the Senate and for days defended himself against the charges lodged against him. He did not wait until the hour limit had been reached in the debates. He was open to question by any Senator all the time that his case was before the Senate. With the exception of a single hour, when he occupied the floor in his own defense in the long period that his case was under consideration by the committee and the Senate, Newberry conspicuous by his absence and his failure to appear and testify or speak in his own defense.

"Stop just a moment and think of it! Is there another member of the Senate who, under the imputation of having a seat there the title to which is challenged, would be willing to hold it stolidly for three years, vote on important matters, and never rise to demand an investigation; never appear before a committee and say, 'I demand to be heard in my own defense! My hands are clean. Come on, come all, who dare assail my title to my seat in the United States Senate!'"

Small Grains Crop Boosts In Wisconsin

Increase Of 7 Million Bushels Forecast By State Bureau

Wisconsin's small grain prospects increased over 7,000,000 bushels during July and the total production of small grain is now estimated at 128,815,000 bushels, said the Wisconsin Co-operative Reporting Service in a report on condition of crops on Aug. 1.

The cool weather during July benefited the filling and ripening of small grain. Oats and barley increased in condition but spring wheat declined.

The 1922 crop of oats in Wisconsin is estimated from Aug. 1 condition at 103,865,000 bushels as compared to 63,958,000 bushels produced in 1921.

Portage Meet

Throng Hears Mrs. La Follette And Mrs. Blaine In Address

PORTAGE, Wis.—Mrs. Robert M. La Follette and Mrs. John J. Blaine spoke to a capacity crowd in the court house here last night. In spite of the fact that a Chautauqua was running in full blast, every seat in the court house was taken and over a hundred people stood throughout the entire meeting. The 600 people who were able to get into the hall were very enthusiastic. Over half of the crowd were women.

Miss Zona Gale introduced the speakers. Miss Gale accompanied Mrs. La Follette and Mrs. Blaine on their tour of Columbia county yesterday and will be with them again today. Five automobile loads of Portage women were with the party yesterday, and will continue traveling with them today. Their schedule includes Rio, Doylesville, Fall River, with the night meeting at Columbus.

Tomorrow, Saturday, Mrs. La Follette and Mrs. Blaine will again be in Dane county. They speak at Marshall at 11 a. m., London at 1:30 p. m., and Deerfield at 8 p. m. After the Deerfield meeting Mrs. La Follette and Mrs. Blaine will drive to Madison where they will spend Sunday resting in preparation for continuing their speaking tour next week.

E. Washington Ave. Action In City Council

Track Removal Decision to Be Made, Belief; Other Work Outlined

Removal of the tracks, ties, and poles of the Wisconsin Interurban system on E. Washington ave. will be taken up by the city council tonight. The action will be introduced through a communication from Roman Heilman, city attorney, in which Mr. Heilman states that the court has granted permission for the removal with the understanding that the city do so at its own expense.

It is thought by some aldermen that difficulty will be had in financing the work. The majority of the city officials, however, think that the city should remove the tracks as the expense will be very small. E. E. Parker, city engineer, is ready to begin th work immediately upon approval of the council.

The street committee will also report this evening on the resolutions referred to them at the last meeting in which improvement of University ave. and E. Johnson st. are asked.

Objection to the widening of Wisconsin ave. will be made through a committee from the Christ Presbyterian church.

LISBON—The general strike was terminated following a declaration from the government that the price of bread would be reduced.

Progressive Record is War Upon Privilege, Says Huber at New Glarus

Senator Addresses Large Audience At Harvest Celebration

BY HARRY SAGE

We are now in full bloom of field days and harvest festivals and the celebration at New Glarus Thursday was an event in which the whole community stopped work for the day and joined in the merrymaking. There were band concerts, water fights, baseball games and a remarkable address of the day by Senator Henry A. Huber of Stoughton.

Sen. Huber spoke in the band stand just adjoining the church grounds to a large audience of both women and men. He was introduced by S. A. Schindler, former legislator of this district.

The senator was in extraordinary good form and he launched immediately into a vigorous plea for the support of the Progressive ticket and an explanation of Sen. La Follette's war measures.

"The Progressives at one time or another have been accused of being dreamers and visionaries," said the speaker. "That's right, we are practical dreamers and do have visions, visions of better conditions for the great mass of us who toil for a decent manner of living. Back in the days when free railroad passes and other gratuities were freely handled in the legislature in return for special privileges for the donors we decided that the people of Wisconsin were not getting a square deal and if this commonwealth was to be run for the people a united progressive body would be the only effective method of securing proper reforms."

"That united body of Progressives has now developed into a solid mass of voters numbered by the thousands who have secured a list of humane laws that have been copied by every state in the union."

Later he defended and explained the war record of Senator La Follette, who he claimed has been crucified by the financial interests of the country because of his advocating higher income taxes for the financing of the war.

"Sen La Follette was not persecuted because he voted against the war, the financial leaders said nothing of other senators who opposed our entrance into the conflict, but La Follette's plans for financing the cost out of swollen incomes brought down on him the combined wrath of the press and moneyed interests of the nation," explained the senator.

"No soldier ever had a more loyal friend than La Follette. "He voted for every measure that would aid to the comfort and welfare of the fighters and his opponent's statements that he worked against the fighters both during and before the ware are vicious lies."

Belleville's husky water fighters won from the New Glarus hose experts in the street aquarium. The Belleville team composed of Willoughby and Berg forced too much moisture into the vicinity of the Le Roy Kubly and Fred Grob for New Glarus and the judges awarded the fight to Belleville. The judges were Jas. Brown of Mt. Horeb and Geo. J. Meyenthaler of Monroe.

The big feature of the afternoon was the baseball tourney when Oelwein, Ia., defeated Lancaster 5—4, and the Beloit Fairies swamped Oelwein 12—2. Both games were rugged exhibitions and with a better inficld Delaney would have won.

Pavilions were constructed on the streets for the big dance at night when the crowd was augmented by car loads of neighbors who could not escape for the day's activities.

The New Glarus band managed the program for the day. The leader is J. J. Figi and manager is Jacob Bruni.

It was estimated that 1500 people were present during the day.

Boy Forger, Wife, Ordered to Pay Losses

E. F. Adams Placed On Probation By Stolen

E. F. Adams, youthful forger, who pleaded guilty in Junior Superior court Tuesday and then broke down as he saw his girl-wife brought before the bar in connection with his dealings today, was placed on probation for two years by Judge O. A. Stolen.

Under the terms of the order, which was made after leniency was asked by Dist. Atty. T. G. Lewis, Adams will make restitution to the victims of his worthless checks and pay the costs of the case out of his wages.

Charges against Mrs. Adams were dismissed on her agreeing to repay the amount of the check she is alleged to have passed.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Kuemmin were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Prager, Monday.

$510 f. o. b. Flint, Mich.

Complete with Body, as illustrated

The Greatest Dollar Value in the Commercial Car Market.

The Chevrolet Light Delivery Truck at $525, completely equipped including the body shown in illustration, offers any merchant or farmer using horses a more economical delivery service and greater business through increased trade radius.

It affords the most economical commercial transportation in the world.

To prove this compare the Chevrolet light delivery truck with any other. Consider what Chevrolet equipment means:—

Standard Rear Axle Construction. New Superior Chevrolet has the strong, quiet Spiral Bevel Gear Axle that "stands the gaff" without breaking.

Standard Transmission—three speeds forward and one reverse, hand lever.

Standard Braking System—foot service brake, hand emergency brake.

Standard Electrical System: Starter, storage battery, Remy ignition, electric lights front and rear, on battery circuit.

Standard Cooling System—pump circulation, large, honey-comb radiator and fan. This means a cool, efficient engine, saving gasoline and oil and ensuring driving comfort.

Standard Instrument Board, containing speedometer, ammeter, oil-pressure gauge, lighting and starting switch, and choke pull.

Standard Type of Carburetor, with exhaust heater—one reason why you get most miles per gallon of gasoline with a Chevrolet.

Powerful, Valve-in-Head Motor.

Demountable Rims—extra rim on side.

Full Weather Protection—Waterproof curtains let down on sides and rear.

Many types of panel bodies ready for you now at prices based on quantity production.

File Denial of Standard Oil Charge

Department Of Markets Files Denial To Charges Of Oil Co.

Denial of charges of discrimination set up in the complaint of the Standard Oil Co., which has brought suit against the state department of markets, are denied in an answer filed yesterday in Circuit court by Alvin C. Ries, counsel for the market commission.

According to the sections of the complaint denied by the answer, the department's action in forbidding leasing of pump facilities, as practiced by the Standard Oil Co., was unfair as other corporations have followed the same methods.

Leasing of pump rights is a common means of retailing gasoline, according to the portion of the company's complaint which is denied.

Constitutionality of the law creating the department of markets will be at stake when the suit comes to trial.

Police Start Campaign On Noisy Boats

Muffler Rule Violators To Be Prosecuted, Says Chief

Owners of launches and detachable motor-equipped rowboats who operate their craft without mufflers or who allow their motors to run with cut-outs open face arrest and prosecution, Police Chief Thomas Shaughnessy announced today.

Acting on complaints of residents along the shores of Lakes Mendota and Monona, police have begun a drive to enforce the city ordinance forbidding noisy motorboats on the lakes adjoining the city.

The sleep of persons living near the shores is often broken by the sound of motors, according to complaints received by the police.

A fine of $5 is the minimum for violation of the ordinance.

Police are also planning to prevent the operation of noisy "pushmobiles" of boys at night, disturbing sleepers.

ENGLISH GIRL TO WED BURMESE PRINCE

Miss Sylvia Helen Forde of Merton Park, England, and Prince Maung Maung Gyi of Mandalay.

English weddings with princes in attendance are quite the fashion. The next one on society's calendar will be the wedding of Miss Sylvia Helen Forde and the prince this time will be the groom. He is Prince Maung Maung Gyi of Mandalay, grandson of King Mindon of Burma. His father, Theebaw, last king of Burma, was deposed by the British in 1885. The prince was photographed recently while visiting Miss Forde in England.

WEDDINGS.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sweet, 812 Chandler street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sylvia Minnie, to Gordon Vein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben. Vein of Mazomanie. The date for the wedding has not yet been set.

* * *

MARRIED WEDNESDAY.

Miss Louise Moulbatsch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Moulbatsch of Middleton, was carried Wednesday to Walter S. Holstein by the Rev. Mr. Jecklyn at the bride's home. The groom is employed at the Northwestern station in Waunakee, but Mr. and Mrs. Holstein will make their home in Madison.

* * *

HONOR GUEST.

Saturday, August 26, is the day of the wedding of Miss Madelon C. Willman, Green Bay, and Lyman E. Jackson, 415 West Gilman street, which will take place in Madison. Miss Willman is an honored guest at a week-end house party, given by her aunt, Mrs. Engel, at the Engel cottage, Green Bay.

* * *

CARPENTER-CROSBY.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy M. Carpenter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter, 212 West Gilman street, and Floyd N. Crosby, Milwaukee, was solemnized at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning in St. Vincent's Catholic church at Oshkosh by the Rev. Alois Bostian.

The bride wore a gown of gray canton crepe and hat to match. Her bouquet was of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. T. C. Clarke, Milwaukee, as matron of honor, was gowned in periwinkle blue canton crepe and wore a black picture hat. Her bouquet was of pink roses. The groom was attended by Leonard W. Higgins, Madison, as best man.

A wedding breakfast was served to 30 guests at the summer home of the bride's parents on Lake Winnebago, Oshkosh. Asters, gladioli and ferns decorated the home. Mr. and Mrs. Crosby left on a trip to the Dells of Wisconsin and the Chain of Lakes, Waupaca, and will be at home in Milwaukee. Among the out of town guests were Leonard N. Higgins, Madison; Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Swallwell, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. Rora Browne, Kansas City; Miss Betty Kennedy, and Messrs. M. R. McKinley, M. T. Kennedy and G. A. Van Wamleke, Chicago; Miss Leone Crosby, Oak Park, Ill.; Miss Florence Wartridge and Harold Wartridge, Freeport, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. George Williams, Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Clarke, Mrs. Emma Crosby and the Misses Grace, Eleanor and Florence Clarke, Milwaukee.

* * *

RAINBOW WEDDING.

At Our Savior's church there was a rainbow wedding when Miss Esther A. Larsen, Madison, and Rev. Peter C. Krey, Tuscola, Ill., were married by the Rev. Holden M. Olsen. Preceding the ceremony Miss Alice Anderson sang, "Beloved, It Is Morn." The Lohengrin wedding march was played by Miss Margaret Anderson.

The bride wore a gown of white georgette crepe and a white tulle veil and carried a bouquet of bride's roses and swansonia. Her sisters, the Misses Clara and Dora Larsen, as maid of honor and bridesmaid, were dressed in frocks of apricot organdie and pale blue organdie. They carried shepherd's crooks on which hung bouquets of larkspur and orchids. The groom was attended by Chris Krey, Wagner, S. D., and Otto Tjernagel, as groomsmen. Luncheon was served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mathilda Larsen, 949 East Gorham street. Rev. and Mrs. Krey will be at home after Sept. 1 at Tuscola, Ill., where the groom is pastor of the Lutheran church. Out of town guests were the groom's father, Adolph Krey, Wagner, S. D.; Mrs. Maria Iverson, Janesville; Miss Eleanore Anderson, Milwaukee, and Miss Dagmer Jensen, Des Moines, Ia.

Senator's Son Flays Local Blue Bloods

Claims Common People Have Been Crucified by Aristocrats

"The common people of this city have been crucified by the [illegible] for so long that a breath of free air is most gratifying," said Philip La Follette in an address at the meeting of the [illegible] Progressive society in the auditorium of the city library last night.

"They have persecuted them at every turn and attempted to mislead them. At the time that The Capital Times was started these [illegible] Woods drove around town in their high power cars and warned merchants against advertising in that paper. This thing has gone far enough. It is true that the people of this city and the state awakened to their responsibility.

"It is because of these facts that I ask you people to do all in your power to get the voters to the polls. You [illegible] the voter. The [illegible] have in[illegible] of confusion [illegible] elections by parading before the public as "independent [illegible] Republicans." They [illegible] the effect of this [illegible] on the mind of the casual [illegible] and have taken advantage of [illegible]

"The people must be made to discriminate between the La Follette [illegible] and the 44 ticket."

Senator Huber was scheduled to [illegible] at the meeting but was unable to get there in time because of an engagement at New Glarus, Wis.

Carl Schurz Exchange Professorship Resumed

Prof. A. Sommerfeld, professor of mathematical physics at the University of Munich, will be in residence at the University of Wisconsin for the first semester of the coming academic year, 1922-23, under the Carl Schurz Memorial Professorship in the university for that period. Prof. Sommerfeld is expected to give a course on Atomic Structure, and a second course either on the Analysis of Wave Propagation or in General Theory of Relativity. Prof. Sommerfeld is one of the outstanding scholars in the field of mathematical physics in Europe. His contributions to this field are well-known to American scholars. The Carl Schurz Memorial Professorship in the University of Wisconsin was founded in 1910 as an exchange professorship with the German universities. It was held by Prof. Eugen Kuhnemann, 1912-13, by Dr. Erwin Baur, the first semester of 1914-15, and by Prof. Moritz J. Bonn, the second semester, 1914-15. Before the days of the Civil War, Carl Schurz was a resident of Watertown, Wis., and served on the Board of Regents of the State University.

The value of methods of teaching arithmetic was recently studied in the Milwaukee schools under the direction of the School of Education, University of Wisconsin.

University doctors made 1,509 visits to the rooms of sick students last year under the free medical service supplied by the Universiyt of Wisconsin.

About 150,000 square miles of the wheat belt were covered in a recent study of harvest labor conditions conducted under a University of Wisconsin professor.

ARMY FLYING CHIEF RUNS OUT OF GAS; FORCED TO LAND IN WISCONSIN FIELD

Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service, receiving congratulations of Ralph C. Diggins, after his forced landing at Kenosha, Wis.

Brig. Gen. William Mitchell literally flew out of gas on his flight from Milwaukee to Chicago and was forced to land in a cornfield near Kenosha, Wis. In spite of this mishap he made the trip in forty-five minutes to keep a speaking engagement before a meeting of Chicago business men.

Inoculation Robs Air Enriches Mother Earth

Inoculation robs the air of nitrogen. Inoculation of soybeans with bacteria increased the yield 1,787 pounds for each acre, or more than three times the yield on the untreated plot, according to experiments on sandy soils conducted by E. B. Fred of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture. Treatment of soybeans with nitrogen fixing basteria resulted in a gain of 57 pounds of nitrogen to the acre. This nitrogen was taken from the air. About 87 per cent of the gain was in the tops of the plant. Soybeans from the plots treated with bacteria contained 65.36 pounds of nitrogen, or eight times as much as those from the plots without bacteria, which contained inly 8.33 pounds of nitrogen.

Tax Deed Statute Is Studied In Law Paper

"Effect of the Tax Deed Limitation Statute Upon the Rights of the Grantee of a Valid Tax Deed," by Prof. John D. Wickhem, and "The Uniform Sales Law in Wisconsin," by Prof. Howard L. Smith, are the leading articles in the latest issue of the Wisconsin Law Review, published quarterly by the law school of the University of Wisconsin. Among the law students whose notes on recent cases appear in this issue are Carl F. Mikkelson, Arkdale; Ray T. McCann, Edgerton; Newell S. Boardman, New Richmond; Cligord G. Mathys, Arcadia, and Harry S. Fox, Janesville.

Working On Newspaper In France This Summer

Prof. F. A. Ernst of the French department of the University of Wisconsin, is spending the summer in France working on French newspapers, and will return to the university in the fall. Prof. Ernst gives a course in French journalism every year, in which he shows the methods and practices of the French journals and illustrates his lectures with French newspapers of all kinds, from the more serious type of political organ through the list of popular papers, labor and socialistic journals, and conservative publications.

Roads Fair; Many Detours on Highways

Report State Trunk Lines In Fair Condition, Many Detours

(By the Associated Press)

MILWAUKEE— The detours on the different highways around Milwaukee and vicinity have remained much the same during the last week, the Milwaukee Journal's tour department review today says.

Highway 15, north to Fond du Lac and Green Bay, still has twenty miles of detour between Slinger and Fond du Lac and a rather poor 2 mile detour just outside of Oshkosh.

Highways 57, 114, and 15, to points north of Appleton and 15 and 55 to Fond du Lac are recommended. No. 55 has three detours on it but these are over fairly good gravel roads for the most part.

Highway 17 to Sturgeon Bay is in fairly good condition, there being but a short detour just north of Cleveland and one into Sturgeon Bay.

Highway 61 to Beloit has another detour on it and travel on 61 to Elkhorn, 20 to Janesville and 10 to Beloit are recommended.

No. 36 still has a detour around Wind Lake although this is in fairly good condition.

No. 19 with its detour is the best route to Madison and the Dells 19—12 is suggested.

Highway 29 still has the detour between Slinger and Hartford and between Hustisford and Columbus.

For St. Paul the route embracing highways 57—114—15—47—16—11—12 is mentioned.

A total of 147 foreign students, from 24 countries, were enrolled in the University of Wisconsin last year.

"Thursday At Three"

By DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

(Copyright by Frank H. Spearman. Published by arrangement with The Literary Digest Newspaper Syndicate.

"Most extraordinary!" muttered Lord Frampton. "More impudence! And what am I doing here—at my age—in my health—"

"Will you come?" interrupted Dayton.

"Come? Come where?"

"To the wedding. We'd be delighted."

Lord Frampton started. "God bless my soul!" he ejaculated. "Am I dreaming? I invited to take part in a runaway marriage. I!"

"I suppose you're afraid there might be a mistake and you'd be the bridegroom."

Lord Frampton smiled, then chuckled, then laughed. But they were just at Carpenter's lodgings—their fourth visit. Yes, Carpenter had returned, had staggered in about an hour before, and was now upstairs. His wife opened the door. There he lay upon the bed, his clothes torn and mud-bedobbed. He was in a stupor, and was exhaling fumes like an open barrel of bad whiskey. Dayton shook him violently. He snorted and struck out with his fists, but did not awaken. Lord Frampton, very dignified and very dazed, looked on in disgust.

"Roll 'im on the floor," suggested the eldest boy. "Let me throw water on 'im—mar'm always does, don't you, mar'm?"

All including the renowned philosopher who used his cane vigorously as a prod, joined in the effort to revive the drunken man. When he at last opened his eyes, Dayton said: "Here, here, Carpenter, where's that interview?" and kept on shaking him to prevent him from lapsing into stupor.

"Porket," mumbled Carpenter. "Iss a gran' ol' man, ol' Frampy. Passed 't out hot. Gran' ol' man, Frampy—"

Dayton reached into the inside pocket of the coat and drew out a note book.

"Ha!" "Ol' Frampy" clutched it, put on his eyeglass and glanced "ee the pages. "Yes—this is it. ver expected to see it. Bless me, what a relief!"

Dayton gave Mrs. Carpenter a sovereign—"on account," he said, for lack of any other disguise for the charity, "and when he comes round tell him I want to see him."

Dayton and Lord Frampton hurried away. "Where shall I set you down, sir?" said Dayton.

Lord Frampton gave the number of a private hotel in Dover street. They drove in silence for ten minutes, then the philosopher chuckled. Dayton glanced at him furtively. He had been devising a plan for approaching the subject of the interview—perhaps he could induce Lord Frampton to give up the notebook. When the old man chuckled again, he ventured to speak.

"Will you forgive me, sir?"

"Forgive you, you young rascal? I oughtn't, but—it is certainly very ridiculous—how my friends, my readers, all over the world, would laugh if they could know what I've been doing." He chuckled again.

"Then you'll come to the American Consulate on Monday at ten—to the wedding?"

"The spirit of adventure has got into my blood. Yes, I'll be there, if I don't die of the reaction."

"And that interview—"

"There, there! Not a word about that. I'll overlook it—"

"But I mean—it's a great impertinence to ask it—only—"

Lord Frampton turned in the cab and looked at Dayton's calm earnest face in amazement. "You don't mean my dear sir, that you are daring to ask me to—no, it's impossible — even you wouldn't dare!"

"But, sir, it seems a shame for you to have all this annoyance for nothing. I can transcribe the notes and have them typewritten and bring them to you. And if you are not satisfied you can tear them up or use them for some other purpose."

Lord Frampton was laughing. "I have always held," he said, "that surprising results were to come from your race under the political, social and geographical conditions of the New World. But—I must say—"

"And," pursued Dayton, "I could cable it over tomorrow for Sunday's paper, and I'm sure it would be a great hit. The Americans are stupendous admirers of your works."

TODAYS RECIPES

Meat Loaf—Two pounds chopped fresh beef, one-quarter pound fresh pork, one one-half cups oat meal put through the grinder, two eggs, one tablespoon salt, one-half teaspoon pepper, two teaspoons tomato catsup, two teaspoons melted butter, about one-half cup cold water. Mix in order given, adding enough cold water to form a loaf. Put in roaster, brown quickly, lower gas and bake one and a quarter hours.

Stuffed Tomato Salad—Peel medium sized tomatoes. Remove a thin slice from the top of each and take out seeds and some of the pulp. Sprinkle inside with salt, invert and let stand on ice one-half hour. Fill tomatoes with this mixture: Cottage cheese, cucumber and young onion, diced and mix with mayonnaise. Arrange on lettuce leaves and place a spoonful of mayonnaise on top.

Peach Whip and Meringue—For meringue: Whites of four eggs, one cup granulated sugar, one-half teaspoon vanilla. Beat whites until stiff, add gradually two-thirds of sugar, and continue beating until mixture will hold its shape. Fold in remaining sugar, and add flavoring. Drop by spoonsfuls on oiled pan. Bake thirty minutes in a very slow oven. For peach whip: One cup fresh peaches, one cup granulated sugar, one tablespoon of lemon juice, white of one egg. Put into a cream whip and beat until stiff and very light. Chill. Split meringues, fill with peach whip and pile whipped cream on top.

CANNING AND PRESERVING

Sweet Peach Pickles—Make a syrup by boiling one quart of vinegar, four pounds of brown sugar, and two ounces of stick cinnamon for twenty-five minutes.

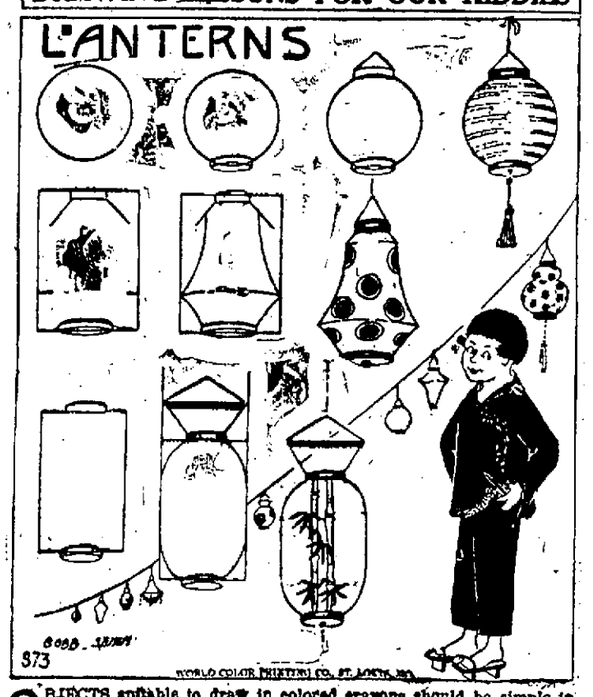
Halve a peck of peaches and skin a few at a time by putting them in boiling water. Stick three or four whole cloves in each peach and cook in the syrup until soft. Fill jar with the peaches as you dip them out, overflow with the boiling syrup and seal. Examine the top when cool to make sure they are tight. Always turn jar upside down until cool, in this way any leak is readily discovered, and the tops are more apt to seal down.

Plum Conserve — Three pounds blue plums, three pounds sugar, one and one-half pounds seeded raisins, three oranges, juice and grated rind. Cook until thick like jam.

Sliced Pears—Four pounds pears and four pounds sugar, cook one hour. Two lemons cooked in a little water until tender, then chop in small pieces one-half pound canned ginger root. Add ginger and lemon to pears and cook half an hour longer.

Pepper Hash—One dozen green peppers, one dozen red peppers. Remove seeds, grind or chop fine and cover with boiling water. Chop one dozen onions. Drain peppers and put in kettle with onions and one pound of brown sugar one pint vinegar, salt to taste. Boil one hour; seal in jars or glasses.

DRAWING LESSONS FOR OUR KIDDIES



OBJECTS suitable to draw in colored crayons should be simple in form and color, free from small details and broad in the masses. Colored crayons are not adapted to fine details. You will find no better subjects to draw with crayons than Japanese lanterns. They are always so bright in color that they make very attractive drawings.

BED TIME STORIES

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and the Black Bugs

"I think I shall have to get a new one. Yes, most certainly. I shall need a new one very soon," said Uncle Wiggily, seemingly speaking to himself, one day. He was hopping down off the porch of his hollow stump bungalow to go adventuring.

"What is it you will have to get new, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper. "Do you mean a new red, white and blue rheumatism crouch? If you do, I shall be very happy to gnaw you one out of a cornstalk as I did at first."

"Thank you, no, Nurse Jane, it isn't a new crutch that I need," spoke the bunny rabbit. "I'm speaking of my coat. Either this old coat of mine is getting too small or else I am getting so fat that I can hardly button it around me. As it is, I'm almost afraid to go out in it."

"Why?" asked Nurse Jane.

"Ha! Ha! Ho! Ho!" laughed the bunny.

"Because," answered Uncle Wiggily, with a sideways twinkle of his pink nose, "because if I laugh or sneeze too hard I may burst all the buttons off my tight coat!"

"Well, I hope nothing like that ever happens," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"So do I," exclaimed Mr. Longears. For if all the buttons burst off my coat when I happened to be out adventuring, I would be ashamed to come home until after dark. Well, I'm off, Nurse Jane. I'm off, but I hope my buttons don't come off, though they surely will if I laugh or sneeze too hard."

And truly, as Uncle Wiggily hopped away, Nurse Jane saw his coat was very tight around him.

"Dear old bunny rabbit!" murmured the muskrat lady. "I hope he doesn't lose his buttons!"

Uncle Wiggily hopped along, and along, taking care that nothing tickled his pink nose to make him sneeze. And he tried not to think of anything funny so he wouldn't need to laugh.

"For as surely as I laugh or sneeze—off will come my buttons!" mumured Uncle Wiggily.

A little later all of a sudden, he was crossing a field when he heard some voices sadly calling:

"Help! Help! Oh, who will help us in our trouble?"

"Hum!" thought Uncle Wiggily. "Trouble is nothing to laugh at or to sneeze at, so I'm safe. I'll see who needs help." Looking around Uncle Wiggily saw a large flat stone and the voices seemed to come from beneath it.

"Help! Help!" again came the cry.

"Who are you and what's the trouble?" asked the bunny, for well he knew it could not be the Fuzzy Fox or the Woozie Wolf under the flat stone.

"We are some black bugs," was the answer. "The wind blew the stone over on us and we can't get out from under."

"I'll help you then," offered Mr. Longears, and with his strong paws he soon raised the flat stone.

From beneath it crawled some round, black, shiny bugs, each one about the size of a twenty-five cent piece.

"Thank you for taking the stone off our backs," said the round, shiny black bugs. "You did us a great favor, Uncle Wiggily, and some day perhaps we may do one for you."

"Oh, don't worry about that!" spoke the bunny gentleman, and on he hopped to have an adventure.

He had not gone on very much farther until, all of a sudden, as he was going through a field of goldenrod, he brushed off some of the golden yellow dust. The dust blew up the bunny's nose, tickling it, and almost before he knew it, Uncle Wiggily felt that he was going to sneeze.

"And I know what will er-ker-choo—happen when I—ker-snitzio—when I—er—ker-CHOO!—sneeze. Oh!" cried Uncle Wiggily. And he gave such a loud sneeze that immediately half the buttons burst off his tight coat.

"Oh, dear!" cried the bunny. "This is—er—most—ker-foozium—too—er—KER-FOO!—bad!" And he sneezed again, bursting off another button.

"I had better hurry home before I get to laughing, and shed all my buttons," said Uncle Wiggily, but just then a little hoptoad boy came skipping along, and when he saw Uncle Wiggily the hoptoad boy began laughing.

"Ha! Ha! Ha! Ho! Ho! Ho! Oh, you look so—Ha Ha!—funny—so funny—such a funny bunny—Ha Ha!— with half you buttons gone. Uncle Wiggily—Ho! Ho!" laughed the hoptoad boy. And he had such a hearty laugh that Uncle Wiggily couldn't help joining in.

"Ha! Ha! Ha! Ho! Ho! Ho!" laughed the bunny, and then the rest of the buttons burst off his tight coat. "Oh, dear," cried Mr. Longears when he saw this. "All my buttons gone, just as I feared, and no way to sew them on. I shall have to wait until dark to go home, for I would never dare walk along with my coat all unbuttoned. Oh, dear!"

"We will help you!" called some voices from the grass.

"Who are you?" asked the rabbit.

"The round black bugs," was the answer. "We are shiny like your buttons. We will hold fast to one side of your coat with our front legs and to the other side of your coat with our hind legs," said the largest black bug, "and in that way we'll pull your coat edges together. And we'll look just like buttons; see if we don't."

So ten of the round black bugs very kindly made believe they were buttons on Uncle Wiggily's coat, holding it together as he hopped along, and everyone who saw him thought that his coat was buttoned as it always was. And when he reached his bungalow the bugs flew away, and Nurse Jane bought Mr. Longears a new and larger coat with real buttons on it.

So everything came out all right, you see, and if the sugar spoon doesn't climb out of the salt cellar to go riding in the gravy boat, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the buzz bug.

Billy Whiskers

By Frances Montgomery

"I know what is a good thing to do," said Harry when he saw the pack of twenty wolves approaching. "Let's build a circle of fire and stay in the center. I have read that wolves are afraid of fire and won't jump across it."

"Yes," said Dick, "I have read that, too. But we haven't time to build a large enough circle."

"I know a better plan than that," said Harry. "Who is the best shot amongst us?"

"Oh, Dick, to be sure," said Tom, "for he has been out West hunting big game, with his father."

"Very well, then. Dick, you take your gun; get into your biplane and let Tom steer. I will go up in my own aeroplane and take Billy with me so he won't be eaten up. Then I will tie Stubby and Button in with him so they can't fall out, and then I can take care of our animals, while you two take care of the wolves."

"We must hurry for they are almost here," cried Tom.

They were very near the boys, but instead of coming for them, they paid no attention, but kept straight on.

"Whatever can be the matter?" said Dick.

"Oh, I see," said Tom. "They are after the beef we killed. That is what brought them. They smelled the blood. They can smell it an incredible distance."

"Just hear how they bite and snarl at each other as they tear the meat from the bones!" said Harry.

"Come on, Tom!" said Dick. "Let's go up as Harry suggested and try to kill a few of them."

Bang! bang! bang! went Dick's rifle, and down fell three big, ravenous wolves. He had killed one at each shot. The others were too hungry to care or stop eating, and kept right on. So Dick gave them another peppering, and down went four more. He shot at two that were fighting, and the bullet went through them both and killed them.

"We would have stood a good chance, I guess not, of coming out with our lives had we attacked them from the ground instead of up in the aeroplane. Now give them another when I sail over their heads again."

Down went six this time, and this seemed to frighten the remaining ones, for they took to their heels and slunk off into the desert again. Tom pursued them for some distance and Dick kept firing at them, dropping one every time he aimed, so in a few minutes there was not a wolf to be seen.

[Tomorrow you will see how the boys spent the night.]

The Story of

An Unloved Wife

As Told to Grace Phelps

DORIS PUZZLES OVER THE OLD QUESTION.

Alec's father, it seemed, had been the ne-er do well of the Graham family and Alec had to make his own way at an early age. She herself, was only a few years older than Alec and they had been good friends when they were growing up. But she was living abroad when Alec's father ran through the last of his money and it had been left for my father to give her nephew a helping hand.

She never could make out, she said at this point, why Alec had not told her of his marriage to me at once and brought me to her but she supposed he had his own reasons.

I almost gasped at the suddenness with which she threw this into the conversation but I carefully looked the other way and made my voice as non-committal as possible when I said I supposed so. I realized then that Aunt Eleanor was determined to surprise me into saying something that would enable her to get at the root of the trouble and I knew that I must be on my guard. Fortunately, however, she used little subtlety and once warned I knew I could cope with her.

It was my father, she returned to her story, who paid Alec's college expenses when he had gone back after working a year or two and had got him the position in the export company. He had worked himself up to one executive position after another and was now the highest paid official in the concern. Naturally he felt that he owed my father everything.

I was silent, proud of my father for what he had done but understanding at last how deep the obligation was that had made Alec offer to marry me, to pay back in the best way he knew to the daughter, the debt he owed to the father.

If only his love had gone with it, his method would certainly have been the best possible but without it, the recipient of the debt was humiliated.

It was then that I began to wonder why he had not offered to give me the money my father had given him. He could have said it was a debt owed to the estate and I would not have needed to feel any obligation to him.

Once more I was back at my old question. Why had he married me? Why, knowing as he did now, how willing his aunt would have been to have a companion in her home that, lonely as it was, must always have been lonely—why had he not taken me to her, and asked her to look after me? She might even have taken me on as a paid companion. Not that I would have been worth much in that capacity but it would have taken the sting of charity away from my living with her.

There was no logical answer to the question:

I felt, however, that Alec's aunt must have her suspicions allayed concerning Alec's happiness for I was sure that uneasiness about him was at the bottom of her questions and those she did not ask.

When he returned from his trip and came to take me back to the city I deliberately planned to mislead Aunt Eleanor. She was not downstairs when he came in so there was no need for my grandstand play but after I had kissed her goodby I said gaily:

Without waiting for an answer, I threw my arms around him and kissed him. His face grew very red but he returned the kiss with interest. I drew away from him, furious.

"You needn't have done that!" I flared out at him, but too low for Aunt Eleanor to hear. "Once was enough!"

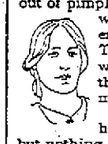
Cuticura Heals Severe Itching Burning Pimples



"I was troubled with a breaking out of pimples on my face and arms, which later formed sore eruptions and spread. The itching and burning were so severe at times that it made me very miserable.

"I tried everything I heard of and was treated but nothing did any good. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample which helped me so I purchased more, and after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." How to Get a Hair Net

"I am forever buying hair nets," complains the athletic girl in the orange sports sweater. "I get the best invisible fringe net made, and it lasts me just an afternoon on the tennis courts."

The reason so many women have trouble with their hair nets is that they do not realize that there is a special net made for their different purposes—a strong, durable double mesh net for strenuous wear on the tennis court or golf links, and for business, where one places serviceability above looks; while the invisible single mesh net is especially designed for evening and formal wear, or for all occasions where one is anxious to have her coiffure apear at its best.

There can be no doubt that the double mesh wears many times longer than the single mesh. On the other hand, every girl knows that the double mesh is bound to be more conspicuous than the single mesh. Putting it in this way, the double mesh, because it lasts longer, will be in demand in all cases where serviceability and economy are uppermost. But the double mesh can never be invisible, and for particular grooming the well-dressed woman wants an invisible net. It all depends on the uses.

In the same way there is some argument among women as to the advantages and disadvantages of the cap and fringe. The great advantage of the self-adjusting cap net is that it can be easily slipped over the head, when one is in a hurry, and held in place with very few pins. But because of its finished edge, the cap net is necessarily more conspicuous, and does not give the neat appearance of the fringe net. Here again, one can expect the sports girl and business woman, intent on convenience and quick-grooming, to choose a cap net every time, while for particular occasions they will prefer a fringe. Then, too, most girls, when they first begin to wear a net, are likely to select a cap because of the ease with which it can be adjusted, but later, when they have become accustomed to dressing their hair with a net, may change over to the fringe, which gives the hair a neater appearance.

You will perhaps be amazed to know that the per capita use of hair nets in this country is about 1½ gross, or 18 dozen a year, for each of us.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

THINKS OF DIVORCE.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married woman thirty-two years old. For nine years I have been married and in that time I have known very little happiness. My husband is the kind of man who is very polite in front of people and he never lets outsiders see him unpleasant to me, but when we are alone he is just as disagreeable as he can be. He nags at me all the time because I am thin and he says I look older than he does, when in reality I am two years younger. You can imagine it doesn't make me happy to have him talk this way and sometimes I think I am thin because I am not happy.

My husband is also very particular about his food. There are very few things he will eat and if I happen to have something that does not suit him he is so cross that I can hardly stand it.

I have wanted to leave for a long time and so I have been looking for work which would pay me enough to support myself. At last I have found something. There is a wealthy old lady who wants me to come and stay with her as a companion. All I would have to do is make my home with her, because she has servants to do the work. She also says that I can feel free to go places as long as I am there most of the time.

Do you think it would be wrong for me to leave my husband? I am miserable with him and humiliated all the time because of the way he treats me. It would be wonderful to have my freedom again and it seems to me too good to be true that I have such an opportunity. Do you think it would be wrong for me to go?

MRS. F. M.

The matter of divorce is something you should decide for yourself. It seems to me that since you are so unhappy with your husband and crave freedom so much, you are justified in leaving. It must be terrible to live with some one who nags and humiliates you all the time.

SHOULD VISIT AUNT.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am eighteen years old and I have been going with a young man for two years. He wants me to be engaged to him, but my parents object and say I am too young. My aunt lives in another state and mother wants me to go there for a long visit because she thinks I will get over my love. I know I will not and I do not want to leave home.

My fiance intended to go to college next fall, but he says if I want him to he will give that up and will get a job so that we can get married right away. Of course I want to get married, but I hate to have him leave school before he finishes.

What would you advise me to do?

GERTRUDE.

I would advise you to visit your aunt as your parents wish. If your love is deep enough to warrant marriage, you may be sure you and your fiance will be just as happy and perhaps happier after your return. It will prove to your parents, too, that your love is deeper than they seem to think it is, and probably they will no longer oppose your engagement.

MOSQUITO BITES.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have so much trouble with mosquito bites. I have tried everything they sell me in drug stores, and nothing seems to do any good. The bites itch so after I get them and a large lump comes. I scratch so hard that usually I make sores. What would you advise me to do for this?

THANK YOU.

Paint the bite with iodine. This will relieve the itching, and prevent infection away.

Got The Real Thing

"For five long years I suffered with stomach trouble and what the doctors called gall stone colic, and all said nothing but an operation would do me any good. A friend who had taken your medicine advised me to try it, and I found it to be the real thing. I feel better than I have in eight years and I am praising God for Mayr's Wonderful Remedy." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

Why Women Get Despondent

Are not women naturally as light hearted, brave and hopeful as men? Yes, certainly; but a woman's organism is essentially different from a man's,—more delicate, more sensitive and more exacting. Women in delicate health are more dependent, more nervous, more irritable and more despondent. When a woman develops nervousness, sleeplessness, backaches, headaches, dragging-down pains and melancholia she should lose no time in giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial, as it will quickly dispel such troubles. This root and herb medicine contains no drugs and has been the standby of American womanhood for nearly fifty years.

LaFollette Might Have Been President If Willing To Give Up Convictions, Says Wife

In a speech at Portage last night, Mrs. Robert M. La Follette said that she believed the Senator had accomplished a greater work than he could have accomplished had he been president in a feeble, purposeless way.

"He might possibly have been president if he had served the big interests and compromised his convictions," said Mrs. La Follette.

Mrs. La Follette said in part:

"As to Mr. La Follette's candidacy for re-election to the United States Senate: Let me make it clear at the start that no one understands better than he, nor better than I, that great political movements do not have their origin with individuals, nor are they dependent for their success upon this or that particular leader. They arise out of the elementary needs of the great majority of the people. Mr. La Follette has been an ardent worker in the Progressive movement. He did not create it. What I say of him is only my interpretation of the ...the progress in politics in our day.

...ght date the Progressive movement back to the challenge of the divine right of kings, when little by little, the autocratic power of monarchs was limited.

"The Progressive movement in Wisconsin had its origin in the seventies, when the farmers, through their Granger organization, rebelled against the tyranny of the railroads.

"If you have read Mr. La Follette's Autobiography, you will recall what he says of the impression made upon him when still a very young man—it was before he entered the University—of an address by Chief Justice Edward E. Ryan. It was he who had written the epoch-making decision sustaining the Granger Law.

"Many, many times have I heard Mr. La Follette cite passages from this great address. I am always thrilled by its eloquence, but I am still more deeply moved as I reflect how that appeal influenced the life of the young boy from the farm.

"For Mr. La Follette, once possessed of an ideal, cannnot rest until he has put it into action. And the great jurist planted the seed in the heart of more than one youth when he said on that occasion:

> "The question will arise in your day, though perhaps not fully in mine, 'Which shall rule—wealth or man; who shall fill public stations—educated and patriotic free men, or the feudal serfs of corporate capital?'" .....

"Mr. La Follette and I were both children of the pioneers of Wisconsin. My people came by horse-team from Ohio; his from Kentucky by by way of Indiana. We were both born in log cabins. We knew how much hard work; what sweat of the face an education cost. Even now I cannot think back upon the sacrifice our parents made to send us to school without a lump in my throat.

"In our day there were about five hundred students at the University. President Bascom was always reminding us that the hard-earned taxes of the plain people paid the cost of the University; and that because the State of Wisconsin was doing so much for us, we owed much to the State; that we should pay back to the State in better citizenship what the State had done for us.

"Most of us accepted this philosophy very seriously, although, perhaps, rather vaguely, but, though I did not realize it then, I am very certain now that one young man was already shaping his plans for the work he saw ahead.

"As a student in the University, Mr. La Follette, in his support of President Bascom, encountered the hostility of Boss Keyes, who was not only the party boss, but also regent and boss of the University. Quite naturally, when Mr. La Follette, just out of University, became a candidate for District Attorney, Boss Keyes selected another candidate.

"Mr. La Follette's method of securing the nomination was simple, and in principle he has adhered to ...method through all the years—going directly to the people for ...support. He was a country boy; he knew the farmers well. He canvassed Dane County with horse and buggy, going in to the fields talking his candidacy out, face to face with the men at the plow.

"He won. His record as an official, as district attorney, and as a vote getter led him to become a candidate for Congress before he was yet thirty. By an unusual combination of circumstances, he was elected for three successive terms to Congress in spite of the bitter and determined opposition of the State Republican machine.

"I certainly thought 'Republic's ungrateful' when after six years of what I believed to be the most devoted public service, Mr. La Follette came home on election night and said the State of Wisconsin had gone Democratic and his opponent was elected to Congress.

"Although Mr. La Follette was defeated for Congress in this Democratic landslide, he was, nevertheless, regarded by the rank and file of the Republican party of the State as a future leader. His friends believed that almost any political honor in the gift of the State might come his way when the Republican party was restored to power again.

"When his admirers say to me 'I wish he were President,' there always comes to me an idea of the way he might possibly have been President—the easy way, if he had served the Big Interests, compromised his convictions!

"If he had been willing even to be a 'half-baked Progressive' or a '44 kind of Progressive' there have been times perhaps when he might have made a 'good' candidate for President. As this thought comes to me, I am grateful he is not that sort of a Progressive, and I am glad that nothing could swerve him from his fixed purpose. I often think how much greater is the work he has accomplished than being President in a feeble, purposeless way."

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

ONE TRICK A NIGHT

THE CHANGEABLE ROSE

This is a very neat little trick and although may not seem very mysterious to an audience it is most pleasing and successful.

Simply take a small quantity of powdered sulphur and, after having mixed it with pulverized charcoal, place it in the bottom of a bowl.

Now, if the mixture is lighted and allowed to burn for a while, a heavy vapor will form in the bowl. The vessel should be kept covered until the performer is ready to show the experiment.

He now places a red rose in the bowl, and after it as been exposed to the vapor for a short time, it will be bleached to an almost pure white. However, if the rose is then immersed in water for a short time, it will resume its original color.

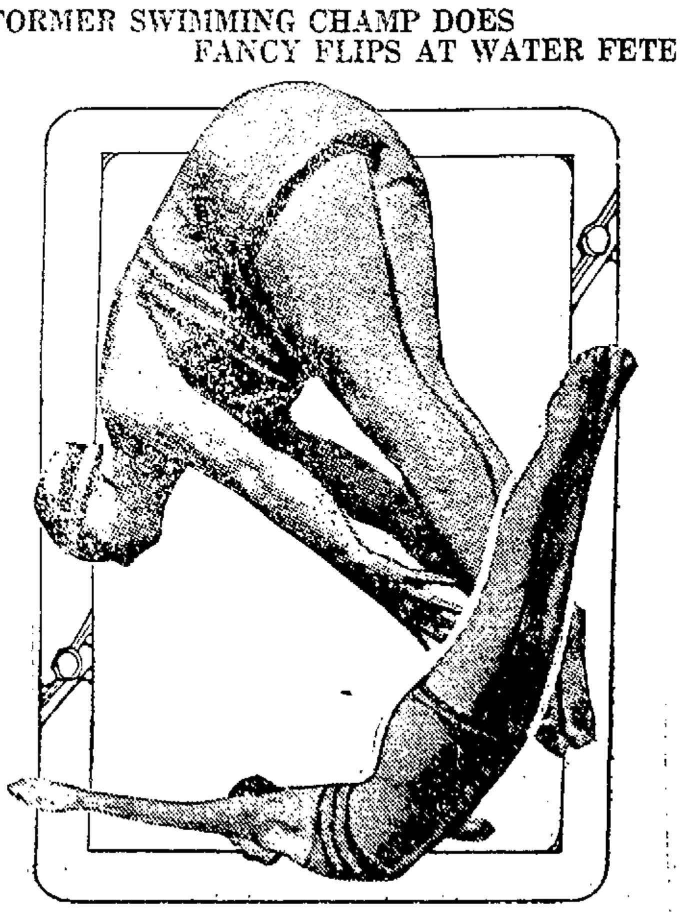
Madison Women Still In 2-State Meet

BELOIT, Wis.—Beloit Country club women won the southern Wisconsin northern Illinois women's golf tournament here on Thursday with a score of 36 down on bogey. Rockford, with 42 down, was second, and Janesville, with 51 down, third. Madison, Dixon, Freeport and Polo trailed in the order named. The individual two states' championship was won by Mrs. J. H. Ryerson of Rockford with 202 for the thirty-six holes. Mrs. Willis Hubbard of Rockford took the low fifth place prize. The results give both the men's and women's club championship to Beloit, the men having won the title several weeks ago.

FORMER SWIMMING CHAMP DOES FANCY FLIPS AT WATER FETE



Ethelda Bleibtrey doing a perfect "swan" and "jack-knife" dive.

Here's diving for you—Ethelda Bleibtrey, former amateur swimming champion, recently did a few fancy ones at the first fete of the season at Lake Hopatcong, N. J. She was caught doing a "jack-knife" dive and the "swan" dive in perfect form.

"Second Matty" Baffles Ruth; Fans Him Six Times In Series

THERE are three good grounds for the statements made of late for various experts that Hubert Pruett, young southpaw with the best pitching prospects uncovered by the big leagues in years.

First of all, Pruett has a fadeaway that is even better than the one the one the one and only Christy Mathewson included in his repertorie. We have the word of Lee Fohl, Hubert's modest boss, for that.

Secondly, in a recent series with the Yankees, Pruett, without exertion, fanned Babe Ruth six times out of the eight Ruth faced him.

Thirdly, there is Pruett's general work on the mound since he joined the team.

This young lefthander has admittedly one of the greatest breaks on his curve ball that is on exhibition today. I looked him over a few weeks ago and one bug remarked behind me "He starts 'em for first and they break over the corner of the pan." He had the dope.

Pruett is one of those birds who won attention by his efforts despite the handicap of being with a tail-end team where a man had to pitch a one-hit game to win. He was with Tulsa in the Western league last year. Won only four games and lost seven. But while hanging up this weak-appearing record he hurled one no-hit game and one three-hit contest. His won and lost average was on a par with that of his team.

Pruett has the one asset a southpaw usually lacks—fair control. He is built husky and works with a minimum amount of effort.

ROUNDY SAYS:

Lancaster Should Have Won the Oelwein Game but the New Shortstop Proved as Full of Holes as a New Sieve

Matt Lavin comes up to the office and says "They let me give you dope on that field day at New Glarus". Lavin is in the movies, so here is his comedy.

* * *

Lancaster should have won that Oelwein game with ease. Lancaster tried out a new shortstop — he gave the best exhibition of missing them you ever saw. Delaney deserves a lot of credit for pitching a close game without a shortstop in the line-up.

* * *

Bell the playing manager of Lancaster after five innings found out he was playing without a shortstop —then sent a man to the position to show Delaney that he finally knew a little baseball. Delaney then showered him with kisses for using his head.

* * *

Oelwein was beat by the Fairbanks team 12 to 2. It is a crime to have the Beloit team play ball against teams like that.

* * *

The Beloit team made you think of the Madison team a great deal—they are so different.

* * *

Davenport pitched the first six innings and Vaughn the last three. Both men worked as hard as a bartender at a sewing bee.

* * *

The umpier threw over 12 balls out of the game on Slapnicka the Iowa pitcher. He was doctoring them up and the Beloit team was afraid of their lives at the plate from the jumps it took. He then cut it out and the Beloit team knocked about four balls past the Illinois Central depot and the constable came down to the park and wanted to know who was throwing cream-puffs at him from the sky.

* * *

Rube Noble was ejected from the park for putting balls in his pocket that were hit into the stands.

* * *

There is a spot that goes in a pool game but take it from me, Roundy, they'd better start letting this Fairbanks team spot some of those teams like Oelwein 10 runs about an hour before the game.

* * *

Davenport and Vaughn of the Beloit team are both over six foot two and when they stepped on the high mound all the Oelwein team were asking what time the first train left for home.

* * *

Wagner hit a ball that sailed two miles below Mars but was called out at the plate as when the ball came down it was covered with snow. The rules say you can not call a ball fair if you can not see it.

* * *

Rowdy Elliott had better get out of this class of ball. All they did was walk him all day long—the big boy sure has been kissing that pill.

* * *

Marty the local boy handled the games in nice shape back of the plate. He missed a few, but on the average his work was great.

* * *

There were about 1,000 at the game. At least 200 were there from Madison. It cost $1.10 to get into the grounds so they must have broken even.

* * *

New Glarus is a neat little town, fine people up trying to give you the best of everything. The town is kept awfully clean, fine paved streets and a stretch of concrete towards Madison that is over five miles long that sure is a boost for that town.

* * *

New Glarus won the water fight from Belleville. This is the first time this town went crazy over water.

* * *

The main industry down here, Roundy, is cheese and pretty gals.

* * *

Bill Fisher and Joe Blied won the pie eating contest with four pies apiece but Fisher won. He ate two paper plates besides.

* * *

Senator Huber spoke in the behalf of Sen. La Follette and drew a big crowd. Ninety per cent of the people in that town are for Bob without any speech making. And Huber must have got the other 10 per cent with his fine speech yesterday.

* * *

The dance on the street packed them in. Everybody's feet were a dance hall. It was one time that you could say that your feet were not your own.

* * *

Both ball games were played in fast time and I guess the fans got their moneys worth. But as a ball team the Fairbanks Morse outclasses the other teams in this neck of the woods so far that a close ame might cause a cyclone or a lot of fans to faint in the stands.

* * *

Some one was seen walking through Verona at midnight. It must have been that Lancaster shortstop?

* * *

So long Roundy, 'old top will see you again when some team around here beats the Beloit Fairies you can stroke my whiskers for me as they sure will be a foot long.

Brennan Trains

Starts Preparation For His Battle With Jack Dempsey

CHICAGO — Bill Brennan, who broke into pugilistic fame while boxing around Chicago under the name of Bill Shanks, started preparation yesterday at the Arcade for his ten round no decision contest with White Heavyweight Champion Jack Dempsey in Floyd Fitzsimmons' arena in Michigan City Labor day afternoon.

The big fellow gave a pleasing exhibition of his wares before a crowd which occupied every place of vantage in the gymnasium. Those who were unable to gain admission stood on the stairs and partially blocked the sidewalk to get a glimpse of the man who gave Dempsey the hardest battle since Jack won the title from Jess Willard.

Sangor And McLean Mix For Honors

St. Paul Boy Engages Lapham Park Boxer Tonight

MILWAUKEE — Stewart McLean, a rising young bantamweight of St. Paul, will do his stuff with Lapham park's latest sensation, Joey Sangor, in the ten round windup event of a dandy boxing show to be offered by Tom Andrews at the Castle Ice Garden arena Friday night. Four scraps will precede the McLean-Sangor tangle and each one of the four promises plenty of fireworks.

The McLean match means a great deal to Sangor. It is his first main event venture and the bout, in addition to demonstrating Joey's attractive powers, will also serve to ascertain what hold he is to maintain in the fistic profession here in the future. Sangor must win this fight. If he does it will net him an additional windup performance and probably a few more.

It will be a mauling, rushing scrapper versus a boxer, when Stewart and little Joey get together. The St. Pauler is of the boring in type. He never stops coming and he usually sets an awful pace for his adversaries. Sangor, possessing a fine left hand and a wicked right, will be forced to check the rushes of McLean to capture the honors. If he can hold Stewart off he should win, but the Twin city contestant is a rough and ready fellow who is not so easily to be halted.

Robins Take Battle From Chicago Cubs

Robins Show Strong Hurling And Batting

BROOKLYN, N. Y. — The jinx that Arthur Lazzy" Vance has held over the Cubs all season was as good as ever yesterday. Everything bad in baseball cropped out and the Robins had a romp in knocking the Cubs flat in the final game of the series, 16 to 1.

On top of strong hurling the Robins had their batting eyes and knocked the trio of flingers that Acting Manager Dugey nominated for eighteen hits. Ten runs in the fourth put the contest in the bag for Robbie, but the Flatbush gang didn't quit at that.

REDS WIN

NEW YORK — Cincinnati made it three straight from the Giants, winning, 7 to 3. Scott was knocked out in the seventh, when Daubert hit a home run into the right field bleachers with two on bases.

CARDS UP

BOSTON — St. Louis defeated Boston today, 7 to 3, hitting Marquard freely in the second, third and fourth innings. Gainer hit a homer to right center in the third with two on bases.

PIRATES BEST

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — Pittsburgh won its eleventh straight victory by defeating Philadelphia 14 to 4. In the four game series Pittsburgh scored fifty-seven runs and made eighty-four hits for a total of 108 bases.

HONOLULU, T. H.—George "Dad" Center, president of the Hawaiian A. A. U., commenting on what he termed charges by Charles W. Paddock, Los Angeles sprint marvel, that the Hawaiian body was attempting to block recognition of Padock's performance here in April to protect island records, declared there is not a single track in the Hawaiian islands where a regulation world's record can be made.

THIS BATTLER HAS MADE GOOD AS HOMESTEADER

DRIVEN from the ranks of contenders for the lightweight boxing championship by impairment of his eyesight in a motorcycle accident, Lawrence W. ("Pal") Brown consequently discontinued efforts to develop a championship punch. Since then, however, he has proven that he has a spirited change of pace and a winning stride elsewhere besides in the ring.

Brown, in the short space of five years has developed his old training camp site on a homestead near here into a thriving farm; stocked it with cows, pigs and poultry to the extent that he is considered back in the running for fame, not as a pugilist, but as a sure enough, honest-to-goodness farmer.

As a lightweight, Pal Brown fought and defended some of the classiest 135 pounders in this country and Australia. The record book shows Brown was at his best from 1909 to 1915.

It was in the spring of 1915 that Brown was injured in a motorcycle smashup, which forced him to give up boxing.

With a wife and family to support, Brown went to work just as soon as he left the hospital. He liked athletics, so he took up a special course. The former pugilist studied his athletic course evenings while clearing land on the homestead. When the war came he was appointed an athletic director and recreational supervisor at Fort Snelling, Minn.

Returning to Hibbing after two years, Brown was given a similar appointment with the Hibbing village schools. Two years ago Brown gave up his special work and devoted all of his time to his homestead.

Now "Pal" has a herd of 20 milk cows, some blooded cattle, a collection of prize pigs, and several pens of full-blooded poultry.

With his wife and five youngsters, "Pal" assisted by a farm hand, is milking cows, cutting hay and cultivating crops. This year's crop will be sufficient to feed the livestock this winter, while from the proceeds of the dairy he expects to finance numerous improvements for his farm.

Brown's farm consists of 120 acres. He has rented an adjoining 80 acres for pasture. Twenty acres of his farm have been cleared and are under cultivation this year. By next spring he hopes to have twice that much cleared. Brown has already harvested 45 tons of hay and 20 tons of root crops this year.

As a side line Brown is assisting the Hibbing American Legion post to promote occasional boxing cards.

News of the Markets

Report for August 9, 1922

Wheat Prices Tend To Go Lower Today

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO — Wheat showed a tendency to decline in price today during the early dealings, being affected chiefly by failure of Liverpool quotations to reflect yesterday's advance here. Trade, however, lacked volume. The most noticeable feature was persistent simultaneously selling of September and buying of May. The opening which varied from unchanged figures to ⅜ cents lower, with September 1.05¾ to 1.06, and Dec. 1.06 to 1.06¼ was followed by a slight rally and then by a downturn all around to well below yesterday's finish.

Selling pressure increased later, and all deliveries of wheat and oats touched new low record prices for the season. Wheat closed unsettled, 1⅜ to 1⅝ net lower, with Sept. 1.04⅝ to 1.04¾ and Dec. 1.04⅞ to 1.05.

CORN—Corn and oats were easier with wheat. After opening unchanged to ⅜ cents lower, Sept. 59⅜ to 59½ cents, the corn market continued to sag.

Trading was almost entirely local. The close was weak, 1 cent to 1⅞ net lower, with Sept. 58¼ to 58⅜.

OATS—Oats started a shade off to ⅛ cents up, Sept. 31½ and later held near to the initial figures.

PROVISIONS — Provisions reflected an advance in hog values.

Industries Go To New High MarketFigure

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Continued strength of industrial shares, many of which soared to new high prices for the year offset any uneasiness that may have been entertained in speculative circles regarding the result of the overnight developments in the rail labor situation. Prices of railroad shares were mixed. St. Paul preferred, Chesapeake and Ohio and St. Louis southwestern rising substantially, while heaviness appeared in Toledo. St. Louis and western, Union Pacific and Chicago and Northwestern issues. Athison opened unchanged. Oils and the recently strong specialties made the best showing of strength but motors and rubbers continued to lose ground. Mexican Petroleum advanced 2¾ and Pan American, Atlantic Gulf, International Paper, General Electric, Sears Roebuck, United States Alcohol, International Harvester and Otis Elevator 1 to 1¾. Studebaker fell 1½.

Mexican oils, notably Mexican Petroleum, public utilities issues and a few selected shares like National Enameling, were pushed higher in the final hour but trading became dull as the session waned. The closing was strong. Sales approximated 600,000 shares.

Missourians Visit Farms Here Today

200 Farmers, Bankers, and Business Men From Joplin Here Today

Two hundred bankers and farmers from Joplin, Mo., are in this city today on their visit to farms in this part of the state. The visitors are here to study Wisconsin farming methods. The party is in charge of D. L. Harcourt, dairy development representative of the De Laval Separator Co.

After visiting the Wisconsin university agricultural school and the model farm on the Middleton road the party will visit seven farms a day.

Another party of 150 bankers, business men and farmers from Columbus, Miss., will visit in this section of the state Aug. 11. This party will make studies similar to those of the group in this city today. They will make Madison their headquarters and will visit under the auspices of the Association of Commerce and Prof. K. L. Hatch of the university.

PRESIDENT NAMES NEW FLEET HEAD

J. B. Smull.

In the reorganization of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, President Harding has named J. B. Smull president. The revamping was made necessary by the resignations of Vice Presidents Farley and Kimball.

Stoughton Department

C. J. ROLLIS, Editor

Office First Floor, 102 East Main Street. Telephone 864 W.

STOUGHTON — Mrs. Grefthen, of Providence, Rhode Island, was a Stoughton caller yesterday. Previous to her marriage to Rev. Mr. Grefthen she resided at McFarland was a teacher in the public schools of the county. Rev. Grefthen once had charge of the Norwegian Lutheran church at Edgerton.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gjertson motored yesterday to Sun Prairie and they will also visit other points, including Rio.

Mrs. Ida M. Walker and two sons came over from Watertown yesterday for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Celia Cannon, North Monroe st.

Edgerton Home Coming

Edgerton is to have a homecoming on the 15th and yesterday afternoon a delegation from that city was at Stoughton announcing the fact, with bills and music by its splendid band, which gave a concert on Main St. There were a dozen or more autos in the party. Edgerton never does things by halves, it goes the limit and a program of unusual interest is announced. There will be a blue rock shoot with the best teams in this section competing and at 10:30 in the forenoon, base ball between Fort Atkinson and Edgerton. Both teams are fighting for first place in their respective leagues. In the afternoon the famous Stoughton motor trucks, with Lathrop and Hornickle as battery and the Fairbanks-Morse Fairies, with Vaughn, Cashion, or Davenport and Murphy, battery, will have a game. There will be races for children and aeroplane stunts. Band concert in the evening, amusements and dancing at the Central Park. Post No. 1, American Legion invites the people to Edgerton on that day.

Buying Tobacco

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Offerdahl and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Asperheim are home from a three weeks' visit among friends in Soldiers Grove, La Crosse and other points. Mr. Offerdahl said yesterday that crops looked fine all along the line, that oats were never heavier per acre, that some hail did harm in the Kickapoo valley to growing tobacco and that Bekkedal the McIntosh Bros. and others were contracting the new crop at figures as high as 26 cents a pound, that is for sound week. Tobacco is mostly an uneven growth, but the month of August is still young and it may even up before shedding time.

Mrs. James King of Madison is a Stoughton visitor with relatives.

Mrs. Andrew Alme of Rio is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ludwg Amble at Stoughton.

J. H. Austin of Pipestone, Minn., is a visitor with his cousin, Mrs. E. H. Warren, vice president of the state W. C. T. U.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Visaas of St. Paul are visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Visaas, 109 North Madison St., Stoughton.

Miss Clara Thorson is home from an outing at Lake Waubesa. Miss Ida Olson, the milliner, is home from her Chicago visit.

Pleasant Springs

The West Koshkonong Young Peoples society, Rev. Lauritz S. Guttebo, pastor, will meet at the parsonage Sunday evening, Aug. 13. Good entertainment is being planned. On Sunday evening, August 20, the society will be entertained at the Erick Hoveland home.

Rev. E. M. Oliver, who has charge of the Methodist church at Waupaca and family, came yesterday to visit the local pastor of the Methodist church and other friends. Mr. Oliver was stationed two years at the Panama canal Mr. Oliver was an able pastor at Stoughton.

Lewis Westby left last evening for Milwaukee on business for his garage, East Main St.

Lutherans Gather At Beloit

Our Savior's Lutheran church, Beloit, the newest and one of the most imposing Lutheran edifices in the middle west, will be formally dedicated Sunday. Pastors of a score of southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois congregations will be present. Four former pastors of the old Bethlehem and Trinity churches also will be there. They are Rev. J. N. Brown, Rev. J. C. K. Preus, Rev. O. J. H. Preus and Rev. T. A. Mason. The dedicatory sermon will be delivered at the morning service by Rev. John Nordby, of Deerfield, president of the eastern district of the Norwegian Lutheran church of America. The dedication day services are under the direction of Rev. M. W. Holverson, pastor of Our Savior's Lutheran church.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the First M. E. church will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. John Harding.

The Young People's Society of Rev. Krostu's West Koshkonong church meets Sunday evening, Aug. 13, at Geo. Halverson's, and will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Halverson and Nora Rosella Halverson.

Factory Notes

It is said that the Moline Plow Co. plant at Stoughton is gradually increasing its output and within a half dozen months the trade may demand the goods on a larger scale. The plant got mixed up with various undertakings during the war period, without fault of the local management. It was a period of "high finance."

W. Hammond of Saginaw, Michigan and H. B. Fritz of the same city were callers yesterday with the Stoughton Wagon Co. Mr. Hammond is the Co.'s agent at Saginaw.

Miss Ethel Anderson of Edgerton is a visitor with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jorgen Jorgenson.

Bercley Pierce and Mrs. Pierce, who have been visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Ausse, Prospect ave., left yesterday enroute to Seattle, Wash. Mrs. Pierce spent several weeks a tthe Ausse home and Mr. Pierce arrived a few days ago.

Mrs. Nick Nordahl came down from Madison yesterday to visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. O. O. Burrod, and family, E. Main st.

Miss Sadie Holtan is home from a motor trip to Canada with her parents and is again on duty at the store of Nelson & Hamsrud, E. Main st.

Miss Maleda Quale has returned from a two weeks' stay in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Emery, Miss Maude Emery and Mrs. Lloyd Emery have returned from a trip to Rockford.

Mrs. S. T. Slaate and son, Howard, reached Stoughton yesterday from a three months' visit with relatives at Seattle. Rev. Slaate and family were called to Seattle by the serious illness of a relative.

L. E. Hildreth of South Madison, was a Stoughton caller yesterday, when he disposed of some real estate.

W. E. Stack spent yesterday with friends at New Glarus.

Atty. Harold Hanson was in Madison yesterday on legal business.

Mrs. Leonard Ostlund is spending the week with her parents at Cambridge.

Al. Schroede and son, Fred Schroede and Peter Anderson, foreman at tobacco warehouse No. 1, motored to New Glarus yesterday on leaf business. Harry Hecker of Sun Prairie visited yesterday with Mr. Schroede.

Tobacco Notes.

Jacob Strommen has entered into a contract with Connecticut parties for handling of several hundred cases of weed at Stoughton, partly at the Halverson & Bitter warehouse No. 1 and the balance at the Equity warehouse No. 16. About 50 men and women will be employed in "booking" and bulking the consignment.

Nor.-Danish Methodist Church—No services next Sunday as we are all going over to attend the institute at Lake Ripley, one mile east of Cambridge. Services at the institute on Sunday are forenoon, afternoon and evening. I. T. Slaate, pastor.

Word from the Health Officer.

A letter from the board of health to the local health officer, Dr. Victor Falk, says:

"Dear Doctor: We investigated the Yahara river from a point where its leaves Lake Kegonsa in section 20, town of Pleasant Springs, to the city of Stoughton. Several times following extremely hot weather, offensive odors have been complained of as arising from the stream. The odors must arise from decaying vegetation and algae growth similar to the conditions existing in Lake Monona. There are no measures available that can be utilized to relieve the conditions unless the main channel was dredged and cleaned out which would increase the current."

Death Calls Mrs. Hougen.

Mrs. S. O. Hougen was called by death yesterday morning at an early hour, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Selmer Jordahl, Pleasant Hill. Mrs. Hougen was one of the early settlers.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Oscar Thompson at Central Christ church, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, burial following at the east side Lutheran cemetery.

Mrs. Hougen's maiden name was Annie Lysager, and she was a native of Norway where she was born Jan. 14, 1854. A couple of years after coming to America, she was married in 1881 to Mr. Hougen, who died Aug. 27, of last year. She leaves six children, three sons, Ole, Peter and Albert, all of Stoughton, and three daughters, Mrs. Gilbert Gunderson of Taylor, Mrs. Selmer Jordahl and Lilliam of Stoughton. Surviving her are also two brothers, O. P. Lysaker, of Stoughton, and Paul Paulson of Dunkirk, and two sisters, Mrs. Ole Peterson of Black River Falls and Mrs. Sever Sveom of Stoughton.

Town of Porter.

Two missionaries from Salt Lake City, Utah, were through here the first of the week distributing Mormon literature.

Mrs. C. Cox entertained the Help-a-Bit club at her home, Thursday. Delicious refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Owen Boyle, Aug. 17.

Brooklyn Items.

From The Teller:

F. P. Cary, wife and daughter, Miss Bertha, and a cousin, Thomas Byrne, Grand Rapids, Mich., arrived here Thursday and remained a number of days. Mrs. Cary is a sister of Mesdames Fred Bennett, P. DeRemer, John Norton and James Byrne.

Thursday was a birthday anniversary of Holley Peterson. In the evening he was invited home from Brodhead where he is employed and the Legion and Auxiliary members gave him a party at his home. About 35 were present.

George Thornton and family, Fond du Lac, were here to attend the funeral of D. A. Anthony. They visited with the T. D. Sprecher family.

During the storm Sunday morning lightning killed three head of cattle for Sam Elmer. The animals were in the pasture near a wire fence. They were insured.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Waite arrived here Wednesday from Washington, D. C., coming by auto.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

Department of State,)ss.
State of Wisconsin,)

I, Elmer S. Hall, Secretary of State of the State of Wisconsin, do hereby certify that the following proposed constitutional amendments were approved by the Legislature of this state at the session of 1921 and referred by it to the Legislature of 1923 and are hereby published as required by Section 1 of Article XII of the Constitution of the state of Wisconsin.

[Jt. Res. No. 24, S.]
JOINT RESOLUTION
No. 24 of 1921

To amend section 7 of article VII of the constitution, relating to circuit judges.

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That section 7 of article VII of the constitution be amended to read: (Article VII) Section 7. For each circuit there shall be chosen by the qualified electors thereof one circuit judge, except that in any circuit * * * in which there is a county that had a population in excess of eighty-five thousand, according to the last state or United States census, * * * the legislature may, from time to time, authorize additional circuit judges to be chosen. Every circuit judge shall reside in the circuit from which he is elected, and shall hold his office for such term and receive such compensation as the legislature shall prescribe.

[Jt. Res. No. 8, S.]
JOINT RESOLUTION
No. 28, of 1921

To amend section 21 of article IV of the constitution, relating to compensation of members of the legislature.

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That section 21 of article IV of the constitution be amended to read: (Article IV) Section 21. Each member of the legislature shall receive for his services * * * seven hundred and fifty dollars per annum, and ten cents for every mile he shall travel in going to and returning from the place of meeting of the legislature on the most usual route. In case of an extra session of the legislature, no additional compensation shall be allowed to any member thereof, either directly or indirectly, except for mileage, to be computed at the same rate as for a regular session. No stationery, newspapers, postage or other prerequisite, except the salary and mileage above provided, shall be received from the state by any member of the legislature for his services, or in any other manner, as such member.

[Jt. Res. No. 30, S.]
JOINT RESOLUTION
No. 29, of 1921.

To amend section 10 of article VIII of the constitution, relating to internal improvements.

Resolved by the Senate, the Assemb
Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That article VIII of the constitution be amended to read: (Article VIII) Section 10. The state shall never contract any debt for works of internal improvement, or be a party in carrying on such works; but whenever grants of land or other property shall have been made to the state, especially dedicated by the grant to particular works of internal improvement, the state may carry on such particular works, and shall devote thereto the avails of such grants, and may pledge or appropriate the revenue derived from such works in aid of their completion. Provided that the state may appropriate money in the treasury or to be thereafter raised by taxation for the construction or improvement of public highways. Provided, that the state may appropriate moneys for the purpose of acquiring, preserving and developing the forests of the state; but there shall not be appropriated under the authority of this section in any one year an amount to exceed two-tenths of one mill of the taxable property of the state as determined by the last preceding state assessment.

[Jt. Res. No. 5, S.]
JOINT RESOLUTION
No. 39, of 1921.

To amend section 3 to article XI of the constitution, relating to powers of cities and villages.

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That section 3 of article XI of the constitution be amended to read: (Article XI) Section 3. Cities and villages organized pursuant to state law * * * are hereby empowered, to determine their local affairs and government, subject only to this constitution and to such enactments of the legislature of state-wide concern as shall with uniformity affect every city or every village. The method of such determination shall be prescribed by the legislature. * * * No county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation shall be allowed to become indebted in any manner or for any purpose to any amount, including existing indebtedness, in the aggregate exceeding five per centum on the value of the taxable property therein, to be ascertained by the last assessment for state and county taxes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness. Any county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation incurring any indebtedness as aforesaid, shall, before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within twenty years from the time of contracting the same; except that when such indebtedness is incurred in the acquisition of lands by cities, or by counties having a population of one hundred fifty thousand or over, for public, municipal purposes, or for the permanent improvement thereof, the city or county incurring the same shall, before or at the time of so doing, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within a period not exceeding fifty years from the time of contracting the same.

[Jt. Res. No. 22, S.]
JOINT RESOLUTION
No. 47, of 1921.

To amend section 7 of article VIII of the constitution, relating to the authority of the state to borrow money.

Resolved, by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That section 7 of article VIII of the constitution be amended to read: (Article VIII). Section 7. The legislature may also borrow money to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, or defend the state in time of war and may borrow a sum not exceeding one-fifth of one mill upon the dollar of the last state assessment for the purpose of aiding land settlement and improvements thereon; but the money thus raised shall be applied exclusively to the object for which the loan was authorized, or to the repayment of the debt thereby created.

Given under my hand and official Seal, at the Capitol in the City of Madison, this twenty-eight day of July, 1922.

They Yelled "Radicalism" Twenty Years Ago

THE stalwart spellbinders, whose only repertoire consists of a stock of tirades calling the candidates of the Progressive Republican ticket "socialists and radicals," should examine the files of some of our Wisconsin stalwart papers of fifteen and twenty years ago.

* * *

ON February 28, 1905, the first meeting on the bill creating the Wisconsin railroad commission was held before a joint senate and assembly committee on railroads in the senate chamber. The bill was the administration measure drawn through the efforts of Gov. La Follette. On March 1, 1905, under the heading "Hanson Scores the Agitators," the following story appeared in The Milwaukee Sentinel:

BY G. E. VANDERCOOK

MADISON, Wis., February 28—The first important meeting for the discussion of the rate commission bill was held before the senate and assembly committees on railroads in the senate chamber this afternoon. The principal argument was presented by Burton Hanson, representing the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad. At the conclusion of which there were lively discussions between Senator Frear and the speaker.

The arguments covered the freight rate proposition generally and was not confined to the specific measure up for passage. Mr. Hanson took the ground that the sentiment in Wisconsin was almost entirely due to political agitation and campaigns of misrepresentation, misinformation and a desire to mislead.

On March 3, 1905, an editorial appeared in The Milwaukee Sentinel calling the Hatten bill for the creation of a railroad commission "radical" and ridiculing the whole idea.

The Milwaukee Sentinel files of twenty years ago are filled with references to the progressives as "socialists" and "radicals" and "visionaries" and "dreamers" who were working for measures that would overturn existing institutions in Wisconsin.

* * *

WHAT about this railroad commission and other progressive measures which were branded by The Milwaukee Sentinel and the stalwarts of twenty years ago as "radical and socialistic?" Mr. Ganfield and Mr. Morgan and Mr. Baker are calling Senator La Follette and Gov. Blaine "radicals" and "disguised socialists."

Do Mr. Ganfield and Mr. Morgan and Mr. Baker dare today to urge the repeal of the law creating the railroad commission which was branded as "radical" twenty years ago? Do Mr. Ganfield and Mr. Morgan and Mr. Baker dare to urge the repeal of the act giving suffrage to women which was branded by the stalwarts of twenty years ago as being "radical?" Do these gentlemen dare to urge the repeal of the primary election law, the law creating the industrial commission, child labor laws and other measures that were branded as "radical" twenty years ago?

Of course, they dare not do it.

* * *

AT the Republican national convention held in Chicago in 1908, the Wisconsin Progressives presented a minority platform embodying thirteen planks. Following the presentation of the Wisconsin platform, Senator Hopkins of Illinois, chairman of the resolutions committee and a leading standpatter of his day, denounced the Wisconsin platform as "nothing but rank socialism." The convention contemptuously rejected the Wisconsin proposals.

And what has happened since 1908?

Senator La Follette has lived to see eleven of the thirteen proposals rejected at the Republican convention in 1908 as "rank socialism," enacted into law and now accepted as good, Republican doctrine. The most hard-boiled reactionary in the country today would not dare to urge the repeal of the law to elect United States senators by direct vote. The most hard-boiled reactionary now is busy feeding taffy to the women—the women whom he tried to keep from the rights of suffrage just a few years ago.

* * *

THE gentlemen who are yelling "radicals and socialists" today are from the same crowd of stalwarts that cried "radical and socialist" fifteen and twenty years ago. They always fight progress. The predatory interests are always satisfied with things as they are. They are for the status quo. They want to continue to exploit the people and any man in public life who seeks to stop that sort of thing is branded by the stalwarts and their newspapers as "radical and socialist."

They have tried to disguise themselves; but under their thin veneer, the same crowd headed in this campaign by Ganfield, Morgan and Baker are seeking to preserve government in Wisconsin for the few at the expense of the many.

Voice of the People

FROM CHIPPEWA EQUITY

The American Society of Equity of Chippewa county held their quarterly convention at which the following resolutions were adopted:

"Resolved, that we, the members of the A. S. of E. urge the nomination of Geo. A. Nelson for state president of the A. S. of E at the next convention.

"Whereas, he is a farmer and in sympathy with farmers of the state, as shown by his record as assemblyman from his district, and therefore we do most heartily endorse him and urge that all locals support him. And be it further

"Resolved, that we also nominate Mr. Geo. Staudenmeyer for vice-president.

Whereas, he has served eight years as state senator and worked in behalf of the farmers, and whereas, he is the only Equity member on the executive board that is truly representing the interests of the Equity members, therefore we heartily endorse and urge all members to support him.

"Resolved, that we urge the re-election of Senator La Follette, who has served the people of the United States nearly 40 years and is today the most valuable public man in America who truly serves the people. Therefore we urge his re-election.

"Resolved, that we endorse Gov. Blaine and also urge the election of progressive assemblymen and senators to help our governor pass legislation to benefit the farmer. Also be it

Resolved, that we endorse John F. Kelly for treasurer of Chippewa county. Whereas, he has faithfully served as our Anson local secretary and county secretary-treasurer for a number of years, therefore we urge his support.

"Be it also:

"Resolved, that we strongly object to any repeal or change in our state primary law.

"That we urge the immediate abolishment of the Pittsburg plus plan.

"That we urge a tariff giving agriculture equal protection with industry.

"That we favor the development of the St. Lawrence Deep Waterway, whereas it would reduce the cost of transportation.

"That we condemn a ship subsidy to shipowners, whereas farmers are operating at a loss and millions of farms are being sold for taxes, and a yearly subsidy to shipowners would further increase the hardship on the many to favor the few and show discrimination.

"That we recommend Senator La Follette's plan of amending the constitution of the United States, that congress, and not one man on the supreme bench, shall construe our laws.

"That we urge the immediate passage of the Voigt filled milk bill.

"That we urge the referendum and recall.

"That we urge the immediate reduction of freight and passenger rates, and whereas, the U. S. congress has guaranteed the railroads a good profit, and whereas, agriculture is the basis of all industries, therefore, be it resolved, that we demand that congress guarantee farmers a profit or repeal the Esch-Cummins law.

"That we urge the immediate passage of the truth in fabric bill.

"Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to Congressman Frear and Senators La Follette and Lenroot and a copy to Equity News for publication."—Frank Melville, Jas. Earl, Carl Dahl, Committee.

HE IS FOR SOL LEVITAN

[To the Editor]—Of all the candidates who are seeking nomination at the September primaries, no candidate is better fitted for the office which he is seeking than Sol Levitan, candidate for state treasurer.

Personally he is a man whose character is above reproach, and who is liked by all with whom he comes in contact. He has made thousands of friends wherever he has gone and wherever he has spoken. He especially inspires confidence in the common people, because he is himself one of them.

As a banker he is far above the average in keenness and ability. His own bank is a testimony to his business integrity and ability. It has thousands of depositors of small means, and Mr. Levitan is always ready to advise the small investor and to help him in his enterprises. He believes in the other fellow and in giving him a square deal.

In politics and in his activities as a citizen he has been honest and sincere. He is interested in our country, in Wisconsin, and in his own community, and is a tireless worker for all movements that will benefit society, and to such movements he gives generously of time and his money. He is a true progressive in the true meaning of that term, for he believes in constructive labor and legislation for the benefit of all classes and not of one class only.

When I vote for Sol in September I know that I am voting for a good man and for a man who will make an efficient state treasurer, one who will show no favoritism, but will conduct his office for the benefit of the people.—P. T. Zeimet, 824 W. Dayton St., Madison, Wis.

[To the Editor]—It is a pretty safe bet that the $100 offer of The Capital Times will never enrich any public charity; the editors themselves know that they dare not or do not print anything displeasing to organized wealth.

For many years I have read a great many metropolitan newspapers. It has been my observation that outside the Hearst papers and a few others like The Capital Times, I know of no paper of importance, barring, perhaps, the New York Times, that I can call independent. When Morgan's New York Evening Post takes a stand upon any important question, the wave starts across the continent among the big papers of Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Louis and onward to the west. This wave in time branches out to the local dailies, like the Appleton Post, Post-Crescent, Janesville Gazette, Kenosha News, La Crosse Tribune, etc., etc.

Some time during the early part of the World War, the movement to bring this country into that struggle started by the New York newspapers, almost the identical same argument appeared in papers like the Chicago Tribune, Milwaukee Sentinel, St. Louis Globe Democrat and many others.

After the war got started the J. P. Morgan banking house organized the Security League. Another wave started by the New York newspapers swept over the country.

I used to be prejudiced against the Hearst newspapers, believing them largely gotten up to sell—in other words, "yellow"—but I have lived to learn that if one really wants to know what is the truth in the metropolitan papers one must have a Hearst paper.

The time was when the country press—the weekly papers—were independent. The editors expressed their opinions regardless of what any one thought or any interest affected. Not so today.

The old-time country weekly has been replaced by the country daily, and they take their cue from the big city dailies and we find a unanimity of opinion that can only be explained on the theory that they follow the "big fellows," or take their opinion from them.

The time was when Tom and Alex Reid of the Appleton Post said what they thought regardless of anybody. R. J. Flint, of the Dunn County News; J. A. Watrous, Milwaukee Telegraph; H. M. Youmans, Waukesha Freeman; J. H. White, Mansfield Times; A. L. Fontaine, Wood County Reporter, wrote what they pleased and their editorial opinion was worth reading. Not so today. Take any one or all of the few papers I have named today and if any opinion is expressed upon any vital subject, if a reader of the Chicago Tribune, you have already read the argument made.

The present-day editors of the average country daily may not be conscious of the fact that they are just rubber stamps for the big city dailies, but they are.

Take any half a dozen leading country dailies and lay them beside the Chicago Tribune and the Minwaukee Sentinel for a month and you will be amazed at the sameness of the editorial opinions expressed.—A Reader.

LIKES THE PAPER

[To the Editor]—I am enclosing 50c for a trial two months' subscription to The Capital Times, which they are anxious to begin as soon as possible.

I have never been as well informe as since we have taken your paper and am anxious others should have it. Wish every family in Wisconsin might have the good things published in your paper.—Mrs. J. W. Duncan, Adams, Wis.

THE MOTORIST'S EPITAPH

When I shall quit the steering wheel
And leave the left-side seat forever,
When never more my good right heel
Shall press upon the starting lever,
When in the silent hearse I ride,
If you shall follow with the mourners,
Say this, and it shall be my pride:
I never swung around the corners.

When I depart life's thoroughfares
And quit the turmoil of the traffic,
Though little shall I leave my heirs
Deserving praises epitaphic,
Still you might say this thing for men:
To drive with care was ever my way;
However hurried I might be,
I never thought I owned a highway.

I never risked my neighbor's life
By crowding him in busy places,
Or filled his breast with hate and strife
By thinking I was ace of aces;
And when a boulevard I neared
I stopped, although not many do it,
And waited until the way was cleared—
I never tried to beat men to it.

When I shall leave the driver's seat
And quit the steering wheel forever,
Say this: On boulevard or street
I pulled no tricks I thought was clever.
When I depart this worldly post,
If you perhaps recall me kindly,
Say this, for it's my only boast:
I never turned a corner blindly.

MINE MULES LONG IN DARKNESS SEE THE LIGHT

The coal mine mule, which ordinarily spends years of his life in the darkness of mine tunnels far under ground, retains his eyesight even though he does not use his eyes.

So veterinarians in the anthracite region have determined following examination of many mules which have been brought to the surface since the mines closed down last spring. With this announcement the veterinarians exploded a theory held by many for years—that because he did not have any use for his eyes, the mule lost his sight.

The coal mine mule usually begins life like any common farm mule. Once he becomes a mine worker, however, things change. He is sent far underground into the dark workings of the hard coal mines and there he stays, often for the remainder of his life. Being a hardy animal he sometimes remains in the mines for 20 years without seeing daylight.

When the mules were hoisted to the surface and turned loose upon the companies' properties some of them blinked a bit at the sunlight. When the veterinarians looked them over they found their eyes were there and as good as ever.

What Other U. S. Senators Think of La Follette

WASHINGTON BUREAU CAPITAL TIMES
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 7.

If Senator Robert M. La Follette has become merely "a voice of protest" in the Senate, espousing radical doctrines accepted by none of his colleagues, as charged by his Stalwart foes in Wisconsin, one would expect to find that view reflected in the opinion of a Senator from the conservative old state of Massachusetts.

Senator Davis I. Walsh, Democrat, twice Governor of Massachusetts, speaking for thousands of people in the Bay State who have honored him time after time with their votes, gave his estimate of La Follette today.

Senator Walsh is recognized as one of the most commanding figures of his party in the Senate.

In 1918, after two terms as Governor of Massachusetts, he was nominated against John W. Weeks, then Senator, and now Secretary of War in President Harding's cabinet.

Walsh was then only 46 years of age, considerably below the average of senatorial ages, and it had been a tradition for years that no Democrat could be elected from Massachusetts.

The Governor followed La Follette's example on the platform, and read Weeks, reactionary roll-calls to the people of Massachusetts. The mill-workers and the women of the state rallied to his support, and he was elected in the face of apparently overwhelming odds.

Although a Democrat, Senator Walsh voted against the League of Nations, and has made a consistently progressive record at Washington.

He dictated the following statement concerning Senator La Follette:

Senator David I. Walsh.

By Senator David I. Walsh

"I am a Democrat, and Senator La Follette is a Republican. But it is not fair to judge Senator La Follette's service to his state and to the nation strictly by party standards.

"He is MORE than a Republican. He is a COURAGEOUS, INDEPENDENT, HONEST PUBLIC SERVANT whose interests first and last are not of any political party but of the GREAT COMMON PEOPLE OF AMERICA.

"I consider Senator La Follette's service in the United States Senate in many respects superior to that of ANY OTHER MEMBER of that body. He seems to me, more than any other Senator, to have his watchful eye directed to PROTECTING THE RIGHTS OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE against every selfish interest and organized force seeking to usurp to themselves special privileges in Government; and his KEEN INTELLECT and POWERFUL ELOQUENCE are invariably enlisted in the championing of the cause of the people.

"If I were asked who in the United States Senate was the MOST CONSPICUOUS PEOPLE'S SENATOR—and by that of course I mean the freest and most untrammeled spokesman for the rights of the people—I should unhesitatingly name Robert Marion La Follette.

"One may not always agree with Senator La Follette. It is impossible to be in accord with a public man on all the diverse questions of the day. But I do not hesitate to say that so long as Senator La Follette holds a seat in the United States Senate the American people will have a REAL and TRUE REPRESENTATIVE and a voice raised to plead and fight for the HUMAN RIGHTS and FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES and IDEALS upon which THE SECURITY AND PERPETUITY OF AMERICAN INSTITUTIONS, OF POPULAR GOVERNMENT, MUST ALWAYS REST.

"In these days of trimming and dodging and compromising of political principles it is refreshing to find a man of the type of Senator La Follette who NEVER ONCE DEVIATES from the great truths and principles of government of which he is the spokesman.

"I have been more than once thrilled with admiration as I have seen him in the Senate Finance Committee, of which I am a member, and on the floor of the Senate, standing ALONE and FIGHTING against attempted compromise with justice, when the POPULAR course would have been to accept the prearranged majority plan. Only a man of exceptional courage can ALWAYS stand up and protest against the compromise of principle.

"I have, on several occasions, seen the Finance Committee and groups of Senators REVERSE their decision and judgment on revenue and tariff questions after a vigorous presentation by Senator La Follette of the side of the 'voiceless masses.'

"The people of America—the common people of America—the great masses of our population, have no TRUER or ABLER spokesman in government today than Senator La Follette."

DOMINANT WOMAN CONDITIONS WORLD, SAYS ARNOLD BENNETT

Here is what Arnold Bennett, noted English writer and severe critic of the modern woman, has to say of the fair sex:

"The Anglo-Saxon type of dominant woman conditions the world by her weaknesses. Take her, for instance, at the pleasure resorts in Europe. She has beauty, health, a rich husband or a big estate to exploit. She comes of a good family as a rule. Her vagaries amaze the continental Europeans. Superficial aspects commend her. She gabbles of art, politics, literature, religion. She dresses exquisitely, dances divinely, walks with grace, is capricious, luxurious, out of touch with reality. She is fascinating as a spectacle—that is all."

"LLOYD GEORGE MAN TO MAKE PEACE PLEA"

Premier Lloyd George is the only man in Great Britain who can make a great moral appeal for the ending of all wars just now. I am not a political supporter of the Premier and I regard the 1918 election as too regrettable for words. But he is the man now, and when a man is in a state of grace he ought to be backed up." So says Rev. J. D. Jones, Congregational minister from Bournemouth, England, and moderator of the British federal free church council.

"There is no hatred of Germany today in England. You could not whip it up even if you wanted to do so. Armaments are being reduced—to the danger point, some say. Men are being discharged at Woolwich Arsenal; and there is distress among the workers of Portsmouth for the same reason.

The waters of the River Jordan in Palestine are to be developed into power to turn the wheels of new industry. The British Government has granted a concession for the utilization of the river for 70 years. The energy obtained will be used for house and street lighting, pumping water supply, railways and many other purposes.

STEVENSON MANUSCRIPT SOLD

Fifteen unpublished autograph letters of Robert Louis Stevenson to his cousin, R. A. M. Stevenson, have been sold to an American buyer in London for $3,500. The manuscript of Stevenson's unpublished play, "Monmouth," consisting of 59 pages, sold for $1,200. Accompanying the manuscript was a letter written by the famous author when he was 23. "I recognize," it says, "that I shall never be a great man. I may set myself peacefully on a smaller journey, not without hope of coming to the inn before nightfall."

A couple of sailors got into discussion over the kind of animal a heifer was. One sailor claimed that the heifer belonged to the hog family, the other that it was a variety of sheep.

Finally, they called in Boatswain Bill.

"Bill, wot's a heifer—is it a hog or is it a sheep?" they said.

Boatswain Bill bit of a large chew reflectively. Then said:
